CLEMSON VS. NORTH TEXAS

North Texas Preview

North Texas comes to Clemson led by Head Coach Todd Dodge, who is in his fourth year coaching the Mean Green. Dodge was one of the most successful high school coaches in the history of Texas football before he took over the program on December 26, 2006. He coached Southlake Carroll High School to four state championships in five years and had a 79-1 record over his last five years, including 48 wins in a row to close his high school coaching career.

One of Dodge's best players is his son, Riley. As a freshman, he quarterbacked the Mean Green to a productive season offensively. He completed 67.7 percent of his passes, a North Texas record, and his 122.3 passing efficiency was best in school history by a freshman. He paced the team to 4,904 yards of total offense, most in school history.

However, Riley suffered a shoulder injury last year that forced him to give up his quarterback duties and he is now a wideout. Nathan Tune, his backup in 2009, looks to take over the signal-calling duties. North Texas has two outstanding receivers to contribute to the passing game.

Jamaal Jackson had 71 catches for 701 yards and Darius Carey had 57 receptions for 509 yards.

Dodge will rely on a strong running game. He has four returning starters on the offensive line that will block for running back Lance Dunbar, who gained 1,378 rushing yards last year, 15th-most in the nation. He had 17 rushing touchdowns and 19 total touchdowns, just two less than C.J. Spiller accumulated for the Tigers last year. Dunbar also totaled eight 100-yard rushing games and caught 28 passes out of the backfield for 300 yards.

Six of North Texas' top-eight tacklers return on defense, led by linebacker Craig Robertson. Three starters are back in the secondary, including Royce Hill along with safeties Ira Smith and DaWaylon Cook. The defense will be aided by the addition of eight junior-college players.

North Texas has a football tradition that includes NFL Hall of Famer "Mean" Joe Greene of the Pittsburgh Steelers. Between 1966-68, Green helped North Texas to a 23-5-1 record. Clemson Athletic Director Terry Don Phillips played against North Texas and Green for Arkansas in 1968. Green was so beloved that the school changed its nickname to the "Mean Green" after he moved on to the NFL. North Texas still holds that nickname today.

"I have told many people that the toughest team we played in my college career at Arkansas was Texas," said Phillips. "The second-toughest team we played was North Texas."

Arkansas beat North Texas 17-15 in 1968 when a last-minute pass for a North Texas receiver in the endzone was ruled to be trapped.

Clemson Overview

Clemson welcomes back 51 lettermen, including 15 starters, from last year's team that won the ACC Atlantic Division and finished in the top 25 of the AP poll. Among the returning players are six who are on preseason watch lists for national position awards.

Kyle Parker returns at quarterback after starting under center in all 14 games last year. The only athlete in Division I history to throw 20 touchdown passes and hit 20 home runs in the same academic year was a first-round draft pick of the Colorado Rockies in June, but he opted to return for another year at quarterback for the Tigers. Parker is on the watch list for the Maxwell Award, which goes to the national player-of-the-year.

Clemson has four returning starters on the offensive line, which is usually an indicator of good things to come. Clemson has averaged nine wins a year since 1972 when the Tigers have at least four returning starters on the offensive line. The group includes preseason first-team All-ACC selection Chris Hairston and Rimington Award candidate (top center) Dalton Freeman. Landon Walker, Antoine McClain, and Mason Cloy are also top-of-the-line linemen.

The running back position features Andre Ellington and Jamie Harper, who combined for over 900 rushing yards and a 6.2-yard average behind C.J. Spiller in 2009. The wide receivers are led by seniors Xavier Dye and Terrance Ashe. Sophomore tight end Dwayne Allen figures to be the recipient of many Parker passes as well.

DeAndre McDaniel is the most decorated member of the Tiger defense. The senior safety was a first-team All-American by the Football Writers Association last year when he had eight interceptions and 102 tackles, the only player in the nation with at least eight picks and 100 tackles. He is also a candidate for the Thorpe Award (top defensive back). Clemson figures to have a strong secondary, as it also includes seniors Marcus Gilchrist and Byron Maxwell along with sophomore Rashard Hall.

Kyle Parker became the first Division I athlete in history to total 20 home runs and 20 passing touchdowns in the same academic year in 2009-10.

Jad Dean's last of six field goals with two seconds left sent Clemson to a 25-24 win over #17 Texas A&M in the 2005 season-opener. It's the Tigers' most recent win over a team from Texas.

The front line includes Jarvis Jenkins, a preseason candidate for the Outland Trophy, junior Brandon Thompson, and junior Da'Quan Bowers, a preseason candidate for the Lombardi Award and the Ted Hendricks Award (top defensive end). Bowers, Jenkins, and McDaniel are all on the preseason list for the Bronko Nagurski Award, which is given to the top defensive player in the nation.

The top tackler among the returning linebackers is Brandon Maye, an Honorable Mention All-ACC pick last year when he was also First-Team Academic All-ACC.

Clemson in Season-Openers

Clemson has won 20 of its last 26 season-openers. That includes a 7-4 record in the last 11 years when Clemson has played its most challenging season-opening games. The Tigers have lost three of their last eight season-openers, but all three losses were to top-25 teams, twice to Georgia (2002,03) and in 2008 to Alabama. Clemson has played five season-openers against top-25 teams in the last 11 years after playing just five top-25 teams in opening games between 1936 (first year of the AP poll) and 1999.

Clemson has had some exciting season-openers in recent years. In 2004 against Wake Forest, Clemson won a thrilling 37-30 overtime game that was televised by ABC. It gave Clemson an 8-2-1 record against ACC teams in season-openers. Clemson won again at home in 2005 in exciting fashion, a 25-24 win over #17 Texas A&M on a 42-yard field goal by Jad Dean with two seconds left. Clemson also beat #19 Florida State in the 2007 season-opener.

Last year, Clemson opened the season with a 37-14 win over Middle Tennessee at Death Valley. C.J. Spiller took the opening kickoff 96 yards for a score, the only time a Tiger has returned the opening kickoff of a season for a touchdown in history.

The Tigers are 84-22-8 (.772), regardless of site, in their first game in the previous 114 seasons. Even though this is its 115th season of football, Clemson has had just 109 home-openers in its history because in five seasons Clemson did not play a game at home. In the 109 home-openers, Clemson has an 84-17-8 record (.807) against 34 different opponents.

Tigers vs. Lone Star State Teams

Clemson has an 8-10 record against teams from the state of Texas, but a 4-2 mark in games played at Memorial Stadium. North Texas is the seventh different team from the Lone Star State to play against Clemson, including the fifth Texas team to play at Memorial Stadium.

This is actually the second straight year a team from Texas has traveled to Clemson. TCU, who finished last season ranked #7 in the nation, played at Clemson last year and came away with a 14-10 victory. That was one of the closest margins any team came to beating the Horned Frogs during the regular season.

This is Clemson's fifth game against a team from Texas in the last nine years. The Tigers lost to Texas Tech in the 2002 Champs Sports Bowl, split a pair of games with Texas A&M in 2004 and 2005, and lost to TCU last year.

Clemson to Play Difficult Schedule in 2010

Clemson was not ranked in the top 25 of the pre-season USA Today coaches poll, but the poll did give an indication to the difficult nature of the Tigers' 2010 schedule.

Clemson will play #13 Miami (FL), #17 Georgia Tech, #18 North Carolina, #20 Florida State, and #23 Auburn this year, one of just nine schools nationally to have at least five games against USA Today preseason top-25 teams on its schedule. Louisiana State, Miami (FL), and Mississippi State will all play six top-25 teams according to the USA Today poll, while Alabama, Clemson, Duke, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia all play five. The Tigers have three of those five games on the road and join Louisiana State, Miami (FL), and Mississippi State as schools from the above list with three road games against ranked schools.

Clemson must play three preseason top-25 teams in succession and four out of five at midseason. Dabo Swinney's team will play at #23 Auburn on September 18, at home against #13 Miami (FL) on October 2 (after an open date), and at #18 North Carolina on October 9. After a home game against Maryland, the Tigers will face #17 Georgia Tech at home on October 23.

If the Tigers plays three consecutive games against top-25 opponents this year, it would be the first occurrence since 2001, when Clemson played #14 Florida State, #13 Maryland, and #22 South Carolina in consecutive games near the end of the season.

This year's schedule could be among the toughest in school history in terms of playing ranked opponents. The Tigers have played five top-25 teams on the date of the game just three years in school history. Clemson played five games against top-25 teams during the 1988, 1999, and 2005 seasons.

In 2009, Clemson played four games against top-25 teams, but all four of those teams were ranked in the top 15 at the time of the game. It was just the second time the Tigers played four games against top-15 teams in the same year. The 1999 season was the other time that occurred.

Being left out of the preseason poll is not always a bad indicator for the Tigers, especially in recent years. Four times in the last 10 years (2003,05,07,09), Clemson has been ranked in the final top 25 after not being ranked in the preseason poll. Only Boise State has had more final top-25 rankings without a preseason top-25 accolade in the last 10 years. The Broncos have done that five times, while Boston College, Clemson, and Oregon State have all done it four times apiece.

Defensive linemen Da'Quan Bowers (#93), Jarvis Jenkins (#99), and Brandon Thompson (#98) are leaders of Clemson's defense in 2010.

WIDE RECEIVER XAVIER DYE

Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "Our greatest glory is not in never failing, but in rising up every time we fail." Senior wide receiver Xavier Dye is a testament to this quote.

Throughout his high school and collegiate career, Dye has faced many obstacles that have tempted him to give up the one sport he loves the most, football.

Dye began playing football in the seventh grade with motivation from his middle school coach. His coach encouraged him to come out for the team, but he also stressed that he would have to earn a spot. His middle school coach told him that he would not simply be put on the team, but he would have to work just as hard as the others and prove himself if he wanted to make the squad. This type of challenge was the motivation Dye needed to embark on his football career.

While Dye began his career as a defensive end and tight end, he quickly transitioned to wide receiver during his freshman season in high school. As a wide receiver at Greenwood (SC) High School, he began to receive a lot of notoriety and attention. Dye had a breakout junior year, finishing the season with 37 receptions for 614 yards and four touchdowns. That is an average of nearly 17 yards per catch.

Following his junior year, Dye decided to transfer to James F. Byrnes High School for his senior season. There, he played alongside fellow Tiger Chad Diehl and former Tigers Stanley Hunter and Willy Korn. Dye's decision to transfer high schools for his senior season was a tough one to make, but he and his family believed the change was necessary to further his development as a wideout.

Due to state high school league eligibility issues surrounding his transfer, Dye was not able to start until late in his senior season. Overcoming adversity, he finished with an impressive 32 catches for 524 yards and six touchdowns in only four games.

"I enjoyed every moment at Greenwood and Byrnes," recalled Dye. "I have no regrets about my decision to transfer. It benefited me not only on the field, but in my every day life, allowing me to meet awesome people I can call friends for life."

While Dye faced the challenge of switching high schools his senior year and adjusting to different styles of play, he stayed positive and never backed down from the challenges thrown his way. However, his high school transition could not compare to the obstacles that faced him upon entering college.

Rivals.com rated Dye as the #13 prospect in South Carolina, while SuperPrep rated him as the #14 player in the state. Along with these accolades came multiple scholarship offers. Among the offers in front of him were Clemson, Georgia, North Carolina, and N.C. State.

"I chose Clemson because it was close to home and my family could easily attend all the games," stated Dye. "I also liked the way the players treated one another. It was like a family and I enjoyed the town. It is a unique place. There is nothing like running down the Hill and rubbing the Rock in front of thousands of fans."

Dye entered Clemson in January of 2007 and participated in spring practice. During the spring, he quickly saw the many differences between high school and college.

"The biggest transition I had was the speed of the game and the heightened level of knowledge that I had to learn from a football standpoint."

While at Clemson, Dye has lettered all three years, playing as a true freshman in 2007. That year, he played 156 snaps, second-most by a freshman offensive player. He had four receptions for 50 yards and scored a touchdown against Central Michigan by recovering a fumble in the endzone. Dye also showed his ability as a great blocker, totaling 11.5 knockdown blocks.

Dye began to establish his place on the team as a sophomore and junior. In 2008, he moved to second-team wideout and started two games (N.C. State, Maryland). During the S.C. State game, Dye played a season-high 30 snaps with three catches for 37 yards.

The 2009 season presented Dye with a challenge when he began the season as a starter, but then was moved to second team after the Middle Tennessee game. He noticed his playing time was slowly diminishing and asked Head Coach Dabo Swinney for a release to transfer. Although Dye believed the transfer was needed, Swinney thought otherwise. After a long talk between the two, Dye decided to rejoin the team.

"It was a phase I was going through," admitted #21. "I had to man-up to the task at hand and do my job. I also had put too much work into the program and wasn't going to leave my teammates."

Swinney and the team welcomed Dye back and he returned to the team as a force to be reckoned with. He finished the season fourth on the team with 14 receptions for 236 yards and averaged 17 yards per catch. He was the second-leading receiver among wideouts on the 2009 team. Dye also had a career-high yardage in Clemson's win over Florida State with three catches for 68 yards and a score. His best football memory comes from that game.

Xavier Dye caught touchdown passes in wins over N.C. State (above) and Florida State (right) in 2009.

"I remember it the most because I played a huge role, catching a touchdown pass and coming inches away from scoring again."

Dye's touchdown catch against Florida State came on a pass from Kyle Parker. He also caught scoring passes from C.J. Spiller and Jacoby Ford over the course of the season and became the first Tiger in history to catch a touchdown pass from three different players in one year.

Dye's determination to get better and work harder resulted in him earning a starting position for the last nine games of 2009. He is now currently the leading returning receiver on the 2010 team with 21 career receptions.

Dye has shown his skill on and off the field. By participating in several community services projects, he earned the honor of being named to the 2009 Allstate AFCA Good Works Team. He was just the fourth Tiger to be named to the team, which included Florida quarterback Tim Tebow.

His motivation for community service stems from his childhood. "I have tried to give back to the community as much as I can, because I know that it wasn't easy for me growing up. People helped my mom and our family, so I believe that it is the right thing to do. It is a way of saying 'thank you' to those who helped my family."

Dye, who is scheduled to graduate in December with a sociology degree and plans on pursuing a career in the criminal justice field, is most passionate about helping kids better themselves. He helps by talking to elementary schools, middle schools, small groups, and churches.

As Dye's senior year begins, he thinks back on some of his greatest memories at Clemson and some of the things he will miss. "Playing football at Clemson has been a great experience," said Dye. "Spending time with my teammates are the times I am truly going to miss. Those are the times you wish would never end."

Dye's many challenges and the perseverance he has displayed throughout his career have proven to be an inspiration for his success. This will be Dye's last season playing for the Tigers. While his top individual goal is to be the team's leading receiver, he puts the idea of winning a championship as his top goal. His team mentality further provides another reason why Swinney believes he is a key player the Tigers are counting on for success this season.

WIDE RECEIVER TERRANCE ASHE

Growing up in the small town of Cheraw, SC, Terrance Ashe, also known as "T.A." to his friends and teammates, was a multi-sport star. He excelled not only on the football field, but also on the baseball diamond at Cheraw High School. In fact as a junior, he helped lead the Cheraw High baseball squad to the state championship after an all-region season on the gridiron.

Ashe had a breakout season on the football field as a senior, when he scored 10 touchdowns, made the all-state team, and helped Cheraw High School win its first lower-state title in 17 years. But even after this breakout senior season, Ashe still did not receive any scholarship offers. He had some contact with Coastal Carolina, Newberry, and Tusculum, who thought he would make a good walk-on, while a few Division II schools contacted him for baseball.

Knowing that he was going to have to walk on at any school he chose, Ashe decided to follow in the footsteps of his older brother and walk on at Clemson. Phillip was a walk-on defensive back for the Tigers when Terrance was in his youth. It was not only his older brother that led Ashe to Clemson.

"Academics are very important to me and Clemson is a great academic school with great traditions, fans, and community," stated #87. "The family atmosphere is exactly what I was looking for."

When Ashe arrived on campus, he knew he had his work cut out for him. He red-shirted in the 2006 season, working to get bigger and stronger while learning the playbook.

As a walk-on, you do not get many favors, especially when the head coach (Tommy Bowden) and the wide receiver position coach (Dabo Swinney) were both walk-on wide receivers in college.

Ashe continued to work hard preparing for the 2007 season. He performed well in the Spring Game and continued his tireless efforts, not only in the weightroom, but also in the film room to prepare his body and his mind to play at this level.

Terrance Ashe, one of 11 former walk-ons on the 2010 team who are now on scholarship, had two crucial receptions in the Tigers' thrilling overtime victory at #8 Miami (FL) in 2009.

Terrance Ashe received the Tigers' 2009 Hustle Award from Assistant Coach Billy Napier during the postseason banquet.

His opportunity would come on special teams to start the 2007 season. Then an injury to Jacoby Ford against Virginia Tech allowed Ashe to step into the spotlight on offense. He played 46 snaps and caught five passes for 44 yards against #14 Virginia Tech. The reception total was a record for a Tiger walk-on receiver. Ashe went on to grab two more receptions that year and finished the season with 16.5 knockdown blocks.

When the 2008 season rolled around, Ashe was once again behind a healthy Ford on the depth chart. In the season-opener against #24 Alabama, he was quickly back in the action after an early injury to Ford. He caught three passes against the Crimson Tide and their top-10 secondary. Ashe himself was soon injured and forced to miss three games.

Entering the 2009 season, Ashe knew that he had to take his game to a higher level and he worked hard, starting four games for the Tigers, including the ACC Championship game against #12 Georgia Tech in Tampa, FL. For the season, Ashe caught 11 passes, tied for fifth-most on the team. More importantly, he led the Tigers' receiving corps in knockdown blocks on many occasions, clearing the way for teammates like C.J. Spiller to make big plays and reach paydirt.

His hard work on and off the field led to the coaching staff awarding him with the Hustle Award for the 2009 season, a coveted honor amongst the coaches and his teammates.

With the loss of top offensive players, such as Spiller, Ford, and Michael Palmer, Ashe will now be relied on to be a key contributor and leader of the offense. In the true mentality of a hard worker and a walk-on, Ashe went to work in the spring and won the Strength Training Award for receivers in spring practice.

A humble individual, Ashe stated that the team's goals are paramount to his personal success. "The success of this team comes first and the main goal is to win the ACC Championship."

Ashe credits his success to hard work and the guidance and encouragement of another former walk-on, his former position coach and now head coach, Swinney. "Coach Swinney has inspired me in many ways. I can only hope to touch other people's lives the way he has touched mine."

Swinney shared the same sentiment for Ashe. "He is our putty guy, because you can put him anywhere on the field. He is one the smartest guys on the field, and he makes plays anywhere you put him."

In a year that many say the Tigers have lost too many skill players from last season, some believe the names will just change and the Tigers will continue to score points at a record rate. Kyle Parker believes that is the case.

"Terrance Ashe is a player," stated the Tigers' starting signal-caller. "He makes plays every day. You can rely on him to make the catch when the ball is thrown his way."

Being a leader is very important to Ashe, whether that means making plays, showing the way, or teaching and motivating his teammates. Ashe is one of 11 original walk-ons on the 2010 team who have since been awarded a scholarship. He is on pace to join Ben Ramsey as the only walk-ons in the 2010 class to letter four times.

A true leader both on and off the field, Ashe graduated with a degree in history in May of 2010 and plans to continue his football career after this season as a professional or as a coach to help other players reach their dreams. He credits Clemson and the people he has met here for shaping him into the man he is today.

"I cannot imagine being anywhere else," Ashe admitted. "I am so blessed to be a graduate of Clemson University."

OFFENSIVE LINEMAN BEN RAMSEY

The key for any football team's success is to have players who work hard. Those that protect the quarterback and open holes for the running back have to work even harder.

One person who knows all about that aspect of the game is senior offensive lineman Ben Ramsey. Ramsey joined the Tiger football team as a walk-on after lettering three times at Grimsley High School in Greensboro, NC. His high school team made it to the state championship game his senior year, but he was unable to play in the game due to a broken leg. The injury also affected his opportunities to play at the next level.

"The recruiting calls stopped after I broke my leg," said Ramsey, who received offers from Presbyterian College and Elon at the end of his senior season of high school. "I was down on my luck. Then one day, I got a call from Coach (Brad) Scott offering me a chance to walk on at Clemson."

Ramsey did not warm up to the idea of having to walk on at first, but as time passed, he started to change his mind.

"As more and more time went by, I began to realize that this was where I was supposed to go," he admitted.

Eventually, Ramsey decided to come to Clemson and walk on to the football squad. "It was a life-long dream for me to play college football, so that is what I decided to do."

Ramsey joined the Clemson football team in August of 2006. He red-shirted in his first season and worked to get back into football condition after recovering from the broken leg he had suffered in high school. Ramsey worked hard in the offseason to get better and stronger. After all his hard work, Ramsey was able to earn a scholarship before his red-shirt freshman season in 2007. Head Coach Tommy Bowden called Ramsey into his office and told him the news.

"It was rewarding to know that all of my hard work had been noticed and that everything I had done to get here had finally paid off."

Ramsey was a reserve offensive lineman in 2007 and played 45 snaps in five games. Twelve of those snaps came in Clemson's victory over Louisiana-Monroe. He also played seven snaps apiece in wins against Furman and Duke and recorded two knockdown blocks in each contest. Ramsey also saw significant playing time in a victory over Central Michigan on Homecoming that season when he played a season-high 18 snaps and recorded four knockdown blocks.

Then during the 2008 season, Ramsey became the second-team center. He played 55 snaps in four games with four knockdown blocks. He received significant playing time in a win against The Citadel when he played 13 snaps and received an 88-percent grade from his coaches for his performance. The majority of his snaps that season came in a win over S.C. State when he played 27 snaps and recorded two knockdown blocks.

In 2009, Ramsey's season got off to a rough start. Late in the summer, his father, Tom, passed away.

"One of the things I will always remember about my dad was his constant encouragement, even when times were tough," he said. "He used to always say, 'Ramseys never quit!' That is something I will always carry with me."

"He was a man who had an unbelievable character. He did the right thing not because it was popular or unpopular, but because it was the right thing. Everyone around him knew him for his integrity and character. This has left a life-long impact on my mother and sister as well as myself. I plan on honoring my father by living this way. I am my father's son."

Ramsey dealt with the sudden loss and went on to play in six of the 14 games (all six were wins). He recorded 2.5 knockdown blocks in five snaps against Wake Forest. He also played 14 snaps in a win over Coastal Carolina. In the past three seasons, Clemson is a perfect 15-0 in games that Ramsey has played.

Despite his limited playing time throughout his career, Ramsey has continued to work hard and impress the message of hard work to the younger players.

"It's a grind," said #78. "There are days when you think you can't do it anymore, but you have to fight through it."

Ramsey's hard work does not end when he leaves the field either. He has been named to the ACC Academic Honor Roll each of the past three seasons.

Ramsey enters his senior season with a chance to earn several accomplishments. He has a chance to be one of just two original walk-ons in this year's senior class to letter four times. The other senior with a chance to accomplish that feat is Terrance Ashe. Ramsey also has a chance to be one of a few offensive linemen to earn four letters after starting out as a walk-on. He has a chance to be on the ACC Academic Honor Roll for a fourth consecutive season as well.

Ramsey says he is looking forward to his final season with the Tiger football team. "I got engaged this summer, so I'm looking forward to sharing this season with my fiancé, Stella, and my family."

Ramsey also realizes that it may not be easy to see his football career end. "I have talked with some of the guys who graduated ahead of me and they said that it's nice to not have to go to practice every day, but at the same time, you will never get that experience again. I want to leave Clemson better than I found it and not have any regrets."

Q. What do you think about right before a game?

A. My job and duty to my teammates in order to earn a win.

Q. What is your most memorable gameday experience?

A. Beating #8 Miami (FL) in overtime on the road last year and being able to celebrate with the whole team afterward.

Q. What kind of rush do you get when playing in a game?

A. Playing in Death Valley or in front of any kind of crowd is something almost indescribable. You have to keep your mind focused, but you can't help but look in the stands and see all that orange supporting you. It makes you smile.

Q. What motivates you during practice and games?

A. I'm motivated internally because I want to be the best player I can be. You have to practice and improve every day because you never can stop improving.

Q. What do you find most challenging about football?

A. The amount of time you have to dedicate in order to be a successful player.

Q. What kind of legacy do you want to leave at Clemson?

A. A legacy of a player who was a great friend and leader to his teammates and had respect for everyone's job.

Q. What life lessons has football taught you?

A. That no matter who you are or what you do in life, you will face tough obstacles, but you have to keep fighting and never give in or feel sorry for yourself, because there will always be someone who has it worse than you do.

Q. What makes a great football player?

A. A great all-around football player gives everything he has for his team, treats all of his teammates with respect, is a student of the game, and never gives in to adversity.

Q. Who or what inspires you the most?

A. I am inspired by a lot of different things, such as my mother and father and my brother and sister. Also, seeing people who would give anything to have the opportunity to play this game but physically cannot...that is inspiring.

Q. Who is your role model and why?

A. My dad because he never gave up on me as a kid and always pushed me to be the best player possible. Recently, my aunt has also been a role model because she was diagnosed with Lou Gehrig's disease less than a year ago, and not once has she woken up out of bed and felt sorry for herself. When I look at her, I see someone who is strong and a person who perseveres no matter what.

Q. If you could be famous, in what way would you choose to be famous?

A. I would choose to be a professional stock-car driver.

JAMES F. BARKER

Clemson University President

Jim Barker has worn nearly every hat possible in his almost five decades as a member of the Clemson family – student, athlete, alumnus, teacher, dean, parent, fan, and president. Of these varied roles, the most important was as a student.

"I often tell people I learned everything from plumbing to poetry in architecture school, and I use every bit of that knowledge as president of Clemson University," Barker said.

A 1970 Clemson graduate, Barker was named president in 1999 with a mandate from the Board of Trustees to lead Clemson into the top ranks of American universities. At his inaugural address in April of 2000, he said, "I am convinced that there is no university in America stronger than Clemson when we are 'One Clemson.' A united Clemson is unstoppable."

During the "One Clemson" decade that followed, the university harnessed the competitive, determined spirit of the Clemson family to transform itself from a respected state institution into one of the nation's finest public universities.

Clemson climbed from #38 to #22 among public universities in the 2010 U.S. News & World Report guide to colleges and has been recognized for value, affordability, and return on investment by Kiplinger's and Smart Money magazine.

During the decade, undergraduate applications soared, Ph.D. enrollment doubled, research awards topped $1.25 billion, and more than 140 grants and contracts along with 60 gifts of $1 million or more were received. Despite severe cuts in its permanent, basic state appropriations, Clemson protected its academic core and competed successfully for the lion's share of the state's highest-achieving students, the Palmetto Fellows, and for tens of millions of dollars in state funding for endowed chairs and research infrastructure.

Clemson University attracts top students and faculty. Fifty percent of the 2009 freshman class graduated in the top-10 percent of their high school classes, and 31 Clemson faculty members received prestigious National Science Foundation Career awards during the previous decade.

The university provides an unmatched educational experience – intellectual development – for students and research-driven economic development for the state of South Carolina.

Barker is a leading voice in higher education for South Carolina and the nation. He served on the NCAA Division I Board of Directors for four years, including three as Chair. He also delivered a keynote address at a symposium in Washington, D.C. on Global Best Practices in Science & Technology Parks sponsored by the U.S. National Academy of Sciences.

For his leadership, Barker has received the Order of the Palmetto, the state of South Carolina's highest civilian honor, and The Cliff's Business Person-of-the-Year Award

2009-10 University Highlights

- A $45 million grant from the U.S. Department of Energy, the largest in Clemson history, to fund a wind-energy test facility at the Restoration Institute in North Charleston, SC. This project puts South Carolina at the center of a growing United States offshore wind-energy industry.
- Two national summits on clean energy and creating jobs in the green economy, sponsored by the Restoration Institute. They were held in Greenville, SC at CU-ICAR (Clemson University International Center for Automotive Research).
- Second-place finish (behind Brown) by Clemson undergraduate students in the national College Quiz Bowl.
- The awarding of Clemson's first Ph.D. in automotive engineering. New partners at CU-ICAR include electric bus manufacturer Proterra and Sage Automotive, a high-performance fabric manufacturer that was formerly Milliken's automotive fabric division.
- The opening of Clemson at the Falls in downtown Greenville, SC, which will house Clemson's MBA and other programs of the College of Business & Behavioral Science to support South Carolina business with education for professionals, executives, and entrepreneurs.
- Groundbreaking on campus for the restoration, renovation, and expansion of Lee Hall along with dedication of the expansion of Rhodes Hall.
- Announcement that construction will resume this year on the Academic Success Center and the Life Sciences building, two projects delayed by the 2009 budget crisis.

from Greenville Magazine. He has also been awarded honorary doctorates from the Medical University of South Carolina, South Carolina State University, and Mars Hill College.

A native of Kingsport, TN, Barker received his bachelor of arts degree from Clemson in 1970 and his master of architecture & urban design degree in 1973 from Washington University in Saint Louis, MO, which also recognized him with its Distinguished Alumnus Award. He is a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects and the Institute for Urban Design.

As Clemson's President, Barker remains committed to the classroom. Each spring, he is part of a team that teaches an undergraduate course exploring "a sense of place" in architecture, literature, and history.

In his spare time, what there is of it, Barker runs and maintains the daily fitness regimen of a life-long athlete. He is widely acclaimed for his pen-and-ink drawings of campus buildings and has recently taken up watercolor painting.

Barker and his wife Marcia have two sons, Britt and Jacob, a daughter-in-law Rita Bolt Barker, and one grandchild.

DR. TERRY DON PHILLIPS

Clemson University Athletic Director

When Clemson's baseball team reached the Final Four of the 2010 College World Series, it concluded one of the great all-around sports years in school history. In addition to a #4 final ranking in baseball, the Tigers ranked in the top 25 in the nation in football after a bowl victory over Kentucky and won the ACC Atlantic Division title for the first time. The men's basketball team recorded a fourth straight 20-win season, including a win over national finalist Butler, and reached the NCAA Tournament for a record-tying third straight year.

Clemson was one of just eight schools nationally to go to a bowl game, the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament, and the NCAA Baseball Tournament. It was the second straight year the Tigers accomplished the "high-profile sports triple." Clemson joined Florida State, Minnesota, and Texas as the only four schools to do it in consecutive years.

Reaching a high level of success in the high-profile sports is a credit to the administrative acumen of Clemson Athletic Director Dr. Terry Don Phillips. Now in his ninth year leading the Clemson program, Phillips has enhanced the Tiger program on many levels.

In addition to the success of the high-profile sports in 2009-10, the Clemson women's track & field program won the ACC Championship both indoor and outdoor, a first for the program, and finished in the top 20 in the nation at both national meets. The rowing program had its second consecutive top-15 finish and the women's volleyball team made its third consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance. Overall, seven different teams finished in the top 25 in the nation.

In his eight years at Clemson, the program has had 46 teams finish the season in the top 25. Five different women's sports have captured ACC titles during his tenure. Only Virginia has had a wider variety of women's sports win league titles.

One of the reasons for Clemson's level of success as a total sports program has been his emphasis on improving facilities. On June 30, 2009, Clemson's football staff moved into the WestZone at Memorial Stadium. It was a day that brought a smile to everyone associated with the program, but especially Phillips, who had been working toward that day before he arrived on campus in 2002.

Phillips' vision for the WestZone was to create a top-of-the-line facility for the football program, but at the same time have a positive effect on the total sports program. The facility at Memorial Stadium now creates more office space, new locker rooms, and training room and strength training facilities for the Olympic sports programs.

Clemson recently completed a new boathouse for the rowing program, one of the top facilities in the nation, added the new multi-million-dollar Thomas F. Chapman Grandstands at Doug Kingsmore Stadium, and a new clubhouse area at the Hoke Sloan Tennis Facility. Other improvements in the last three years have included a new practice facility for the golf program, and a new press box at the Riggs Field soccer stadium. Plans are in the works for the construction of the Larry B. Penley, Jr. Golf Facility, a new baseball locker room, and a significant enhancement to Riggs Field.

Academically, 17 of the 19 programs were above the national average for public institutions in terms of APR scores. In the 2010 spring semester, over 50 percent of Clemson's student-athletes were on the academic honor roll and seven of the 15 programs had team GPAs of at least 3.0. The overall GPA was 2.92 for the semester, third-highest on record.

Phillips has been recognized for these accomplishments in recent years. He was named as one of the top-100 Most Influential Sports Educators in America in 2008, a selection made by The Institute for International Sport at the University of Rhode Island. The institute's objective involved a four-year process and resulted in a list that spans scholars, Olympians, coaches, and other industry leaders "who have creatively and effectively used sport in the very best way as a means to educate and shape positive values."

Phillips' athletic career and academic pursuits epitomize that desire. Believed to be the only Division I athletic director with both a doctorate and law degree, he uniquely blends the discipline and inspiration created on each side of campus. He has firmly put his imprint on the University and Tiger athletics by creating a balanced, positive environment for success that emphasizes academic integrity, student-athlete welfare, and competing at the highest levels with unequivocal NCAA compliance.

Phillips was also recognized nationally for his performance at Clemson in June of 2006 when he was honored by NACDA (National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics) as the 2005-06 GeneralSports Turf Systems Athletic Director-of-the-Year for the Southeast Region of the FBS. He was one of just four FBS athletic directors honored at the annual convention in New Orleans, LA.

Excellence in academics has been a lifelong pursuit. He has an undergraduate degree from Arkansas (1970), a master's degree from Virginia Tech (1974), a doctorate degree from Virginia Tech (1978), and a law degree from the University of Arkansas School of Law (1996). He is a member of the Arkansas Bar, South Carolina Bar, American Bar Association, and Sports Lawyers Association.

Phillips maintains a classroom presence by teaching a sports law section in Clemson's accountancy & legal studies department. In addition, he is past chair of the NCAA Division I Infractions Appeals Committee and continues to serve the committee as requested.

Prior to coming to Clemson, Phillips served as athletic director at Oklahoma State. Football was transformed from a perennial losing status to very competitive, enjoying a return to bowl games after several years and establishing a winning record against in-state rival Oklahoma. For this, he received the National Football Foundation Oklahoma Chapter Outstanding Contribution to Amateur Football Award in 2002.

Additionally in 2006, he was named one of the top-25 most influential people in the history of Oklahoma

State athletics by GoPokes Magazine. This recognition reflected the substantial success of the all-sports program and the momentous facility development under his leadership.

Before leading Oklahoma State, he served as senior associate athletic director at Arkansas from 1988-94. He also served as athletic director at Liberty (1980-81) and Louisiana-Lafayette (1983-88). He was an assistant athletic director at Missouri (1981-83) and began his administrative career in 1979 as an assistant athletic director at Florida.

Phillips began his career in college athletics coaching football. He started as a graduate assistant at Arkansas in 1970 and 1971. He moved on to Virginia Tech as an assistant coach (1971-78) before joining the ranks of athletic administration. At Virginia Tech, he served on coaching staffs that included future Clemson Head Coaches Charley Pell and Danny Ford.

Winning has been on Phillips' resumé since his playing days at Arkansas. He lettered on three Frank Broyles teams, where he and his brother Loyd, an Outland Trophy winner, were starting defensive tackles, the first brother combination to start together under Broyles. Arkansas had a 27-5 record in the three years, played in two Sugar Bowl games, and he played in the memorable 1969 National Championship game against Texas, a contest that continues to be featured on ESPN Classic.

In June of 2010, it was announced that Phillips would be inducted this fall into the University of Arkansas Hall of Honor.

Phillips has two children, John Dennis and Sarah-Jane, and three stepchildren, Meagan, a senior at Clemson and proud member of Tiger Band, Marshall, and Madison. His wife Tricia is a graduate of the University of Missouri School of Journalism and earlier enjoyed a career in athletics and development. She is now active in the Clemson and Seneca communities.

DABO SWINNEY

Head Coach

At age 40, Dabo Swinney is the youngest head coach in the ACC and one of the youngest in the country, but he handled his first full season as Clemson's head coach like an old veteran. In 2009, he led the Tigers to their first championship of the ACC's Atlantic Division. The Tigers came just six points short of winning their first ACC title in 18 years. Swinney was named ACC Coach-of-the-Year by Sporting News and was a finalist for the Liberty Mutual Coach-of-the-Year award.

Swinney accumulated nine wins, second-most among all FBS coaches in their first full year behind Oregon's Chip Kelly. The nine wins tied for fourth-most in ACC history for a first-year head coach. He also led the Tigers to their first bowl win since 2005 in the 21-13 victory over Kentucky in the Music City Bowl.

The Tigers reached the nine-win mark playing a schedule that included four games against top-15 opponents, just the second year in school history (1999 was the other) that Clemson played four games against teams ranked in the top 15 of the AP poll. Clemson was 1-3 in those games, but the three losses were by a combined 12 points (three points to Georgia Tech, four points to TCU, and five points to Georgia Tech in the ACC Championship game). The Tigers' three FBS non-conference opponents had a combined record of 29-10 in 2009. Clemson gave TCU one of its stiffest tests in a 14-10 Horned Frog victory on September 26.

Swinney's first season included a six-game winning streak at midseason, a streak that saw the Tigers score at least 34 points in every game, a first in school history. During that stretch, the Tigers beat #8 Miami (FL) on the road. The 40-37 overtime victory tied for the highest-ranked team Clemson has defeated on the road in school history.

That was the second of six straight wins, the longest winning streak for the Clemson program in four years. The streak also included a 40-24 nationally-televised win over Florida State and Bobby Bowden, the Hall of Fame coach who is second in victories in FBS history. The winning streak brought Clemson to a #15 national ranking in the AP poll after the ACC Atlantic Division clinching victory over Virginia on November 21.

The Tigers had success on offense, defense, and special teams during the 2009 season. The Tigers were 28th in the nation and third in the ACC in scoring offense (31.1), while the defense was 20th in total defense (314.3) and seventh in pass defense (162.8). Clemson finished in a tie for fifth in the country in interceptions (21) as well.

The main reason Clemson was so outstanding on special teams was the play of college football's most dynamic player, C.J. Spiller. The Tiger running back was named MVP of the ACC in 2009 and was a consensus first-team All-American. He had five kick returns for touchdowns during the 2009 season, an all-time Clemson record, and established the NCAA record for kickoff returns for touchdowns in a career with seven. He was also the only FBS player to score at least one touchdown in every game in 2009.

Overall, the Tigers held down three positions on the All-ACC First-Team and five spots on the second team. Only Virginia Tech had more representatives.

Swinney became Clemson's interim head coach on October 13, 2008 when Tommy Bowden stepped down after guiding the program for nearly 10 seasons. Then on December 1, 2008, the "interim" tag was removed, as he took over on a full-time basis as the Tigers' 25th head coach. He had been the assistant head coach for two years and had been in charge of the wideouts since 2003.

Swinney, who had never been a head coach prior to the 2008 season, led Clemson to a 4-3 record to close 2008. That mark included four victories in the last five regular-season games, with the only loss at #24 Florida State. That 4-1 record to end the regular season tied for the best mark in the ACC for that time period. Four of his six regular-season opponents were later bowl participants. His 4-3 record included a 2-1 road record, wins over Boston College and Virginia.

Swinney's first victory as a head coach took place in his first-ever road game at Boston College on November 1. Despite committing four turnovers and trailing in the fourth quarter, his troops rallied for a 27-21 win, giving Clemson its first win over the Eagles since 1958. It also came against the eventual ACC Atlantic Division winner.

The Tigers suffered a 41-27 defeat at #24 Florida State a week later, but they rebounded to trounce Duke 31-7 at Memorial Stadium by outgaining the Blue Devils 466-168 under Swinney, who also served as offensive coordinator during the second half of 2008. Clemson showed its road prowess the following weekend by claiming a 13-3 victory at Virginia and veteran Head Coach Al Groh.

Rival South Carolina awaited for the final regular-season game. Against one of the SEC's best defenses, the Tigers used a balanced attack (184 rushing yards, 199 passing yards) to top the Gamecocks 31-14 at Memorial Stadium. Clemson also had four interceptions against Steve Spurrier's offense and held it to just 22-47 passing for 212 yards. The following week, the Tigers accepted an invitation to play in the Gator Bowl against Nebraska.

The 1993 Alabama graduate joined the Clemson staff prior to the 2003 season. In his seven years, the Tigers have finished in the top 25 of the final polls four times and totaled 10 wins over top-25 teams, including victories over Florida State (4), Miami (FL) (2), and Tennessee (1), during his tenure in Tigertown.

Swinney coached his wide receiver position to a level of consistency that had not been seen previously at Clemson. He had a wideout finish first or second in the ACC in catches five of the last six years. In his first year, he had three of the top-10 receivers in the ACC, a first in Tiger history. He has coached a First or Second-Team All-ACC wideout every year since 2003 (Derrick Hamilton, Aiyse Currie, Chansi Stuckey, Aaron Kelly, Jacoby Ford), also an unprecedented feat at Clemson.

HOWARD'S

In 2004 and 2005, he coached the ACC reception champion (Currie (2004), Stuckey (2005)). It was the first time Clemson had two different players lead the ACC in receptions in consecutive years. In 2007, Kelly led the ACC in yards, giving Swinney an ACC receiving king three out of four years. Stuckey earned First-Team All-ACC honors in back-to-back years, a first for a Tiger wideout in 25 years.

The play of Swinney's wide receivers was a big reason Clemson led the ACC in total offense, rushing offense, and scoring offense during the 2006 season, just the second time an ACC team led the conference in all three categories during the previous 25 seasons. The Tigers also led the league and set school records for yards per play (6.5) and touchdowns (55).

In 2007, Swinney coached Kelly, a First-Team All-ACC selection who led the league in receiving yards per game and touchdown catches (11). He also finished second in receptions per game with a school-record 88 catches, tied for the second-highest total in ACC history. His 11 touchdown catches were a Tiger record as well.

Kelly is Clemson's and the ACC's career reception leader with 232 catches. He also owns the school touchdown reception record with 20. The previous record of 18 was held by Glenn Smith, who established the record in the 1951 season.

The Alabama native has a reputation as one of the top recruiters in the nation. In 2006, he was listed as the #5 recruiter in the nation by Rivals.com. It marked the second straight year that he was lauded by the website as a top-25 national recruiter. He signed 38 players in his five recruiting seasons and was a major reason Clemson's 2008 recruiting class was rated #2 in the nation by ESPN.com when he signed 11 players. He was named one of the top-25 recruiters in the nation by Rivals.com in 2007 as well.

When he accepted the interim head coaching position on October 13, 2008, he described his feelings as "bittersweet" because he was taking over for Bowden, who had been his first position coach at Alabama in 1989. He had also brought Swinney back to the coaching profession in 2003 and has had a profound effect on his life. Both had followed similar paths as players, as Bowden was a walk-on at West Virginia and Swinney was a walk-on at Alabama.

Swinney received a commerce & business administration degree from Alabama in 1993 after lettering three times (1990-92). A walk-on who went on to earn a scholarship, Swinney was a wide receiver on Alabama's 1992 National Championship team. He was also named Academic All-SEC along with being an SEC Scholar-Athlete Honor Roll member in 1990 and 1992.

Along with his appearance in the 1993 Sugar Bowl, his Alabama teams played in the 1990 Sugar Bowl, 1991 Fiesta Bowl, and 1991 Blockbuster Bowl. Both Sugar Bowl appearances came after winning the SEC title game.

After his playing career, Swinney served as a graduate assistant from 1993-95 at Alabama, where he coached in the 1994 Gator Bowl and 1995 Citrus Bowl. In December of 1995, he received a master's degree in business administration from Alabama.

He became a full-time assistant coach at Alabama in February of 1996 under Head Coach Gene Stallings and coached a total of five seasons there on a full-time basis. He was assigned to coach the Crimson Tide's wide receivers and tight ends in 1996, a season that saw Alabama win the SEC Western Division title and make an Outback Bowl appearance. The following year, he solely coached the tight ends under Head Coach Mike DuBose.

In 1998, he coached Alabama's wide receivers, a position he held for three seasons. At the end of the 1999 campaign, Swinney coached the Crimson Tide in the 2000 Orange Bowl after winning the SEC Championship game. Wide receiver Freddie Milons was the game MVP.

At Alabama, Swinney was a part of six teams with at least 10 wins, five top-10 finishes, one national title (1992), three SEC titles (1989,92,99), and five SEC Western Division titles (1992,93,94,96,99) as a player and coach. He has coached the #2 receiver at Alabama (Milons) along with the #1 (Kelly) and #2 (Hamilton) receivers in Tiger history.

Since 1997, he has had 20 former players either drafted or sign free-agent contracts with NFL teams. The list includes Hamilton, Currie, Kevin Youngblood, Stuckey, and Milons, an All-American at Alabama.

From April of 2001 through February of 2003, Swinney was in private business in Alabama. He married the former Kathleen Bassett in 1994. They have three sons, Will (12), Drew (10), and Clay (7).

- In his 11 seasons at Clemson, the Tigers have been bowl eligible all 11 years and have played in 10 bowl games. The Tigers have set over 100 school records on offense since he has been with the program.
- Has been the offensive coordinator on two (2001,03) of the top-four offenses in Tiger history.
- Has coached at least one All-ACC player each of the last five years. That includes two first-team selections in 2007 (Chris McDuffie, Barry Richardson). Both players earned All-America honors, the first time two Tiger offensive linemen on the same team were All-Americans.
- As offensive coordinator at Clemson in 2001, Woodrow Dantzler became the first player in NCAA history to total 2,000 passing yards and 1,000 rushing yards in one season.
- The 2006 offensive line paved the way for James Davis and C.J. Spiller to gain over 2,000 combined rushing yards, a big reason Clemson was fifth in the nation in rushing that year.
- The 2009 season was his 25th in college coaching as a full-time staff member and he helped the Tigers to their first ACC Atlantic Division title and a top-25 final ranking.
- Served as an assistant coach at Florida State from 1983-93. He was on the 1993 staff that won the national title. He was the offensive coordinator of that record-setting team that featured Heisman Trophy winner Charlie Ward.
- Florida State was 10-0-1 in bowl games with him on the staff. The Seminoles were also 44-6 when he was the offensive coordinator.
- Came to Clemson after serving five seasons as head coach at South Carolina. He led the Gamecocks to a bowl win over West Virginia in the 1994 Carquest Bowl, the first bowl win in school history.
- His son Jeff is Clemson's recruiting coordinator and wide receivers coach, giving the Tigers their first full-time, father-son coaching combination in history.

Playing Experience

Three-year letterman and two-year starter on the offensive line at Missouri-Rolla (1973-75).

Defensive Tackles

- 2nd Season at Clemson
- 27th Season Overall
- Western Carolina '76
- Born June 25, 1951

- Helped Clemson to an ACC Atlantic Division title and a top-25 final ranking in his first year with the program. The Tigers were 12th nationally in tackles for loss and Brooks' defensive linemen had a lot to do with that success.
- Clemson finished in the top 25 in the nation in seven defensive categories in 2009.
- Has coached 316 games as a full-time college assistant, more than any other active member of the Tiger coaching staff.
- Coached the previous 15 years at Tennessee under Head Coach Philip Fulmer. He coached in 13 bowl games during those 15 years and was a part of eight teams that won at least 10 games. The Volunteers finished in the top 25 of the polls in 12 of those seasons, including six top-10 finishes. Tennessee also finished in the top 10 of the AP poll five straight years (1995-99).
- Tennessee's defense finished third in the nation in total defense, allowing just 263.5 yards per game, in 2008. The Volunteers were also 10th in scoring defense and 12th in rushing defense.
- Coached first-round draft pick Albert Haynesworth, now the highest-paid defensive player in the NFL, of the Redskins. He also coached first-round draft picks Shaun Ellis, Justin Harell, and John Henderson. He also recruited NFL Hall of Famer Emmitt Smith to Florida.
- Served as Tennessee's recruiting coordinator from 1999-02.
- Coached on the 1998 Tennessee staff that won the national title with a 13-0 record. That team had six wins over top-25 teams and gave up just five rushing touchdowns.
- Tennessee won back-to-back SEC titles in 1997 and 1998.
- In 1998, he was named the SEC's top defensive line coach.
- Coached six years under Mack Brown at North Carolina from 1988-93. He helped the resurgence of North Carolina during that era, culminating with a 9-3 record in 1992 and a 10-3 mark in 1993.
- Coached former Clemson star and NFL All-Pro running back Kevin Mack in high school in the 1970s.

Football Support Staff

Woody McCorvey

Associate Athletic Director
Football Administration

- 9th Season at Clemson
- Alabama State '72
- Born September 30, 1950

Woody McCorvey returned to Clemson after 20 years to become Associate Athletic Director for Football Administration on Dabo Swinney's first staff. McCorvey was Swinney's position coach during his playing days at Alabama and served as a wide receivers and tight ends coach on Danny Ford's Tiger staff from 1983-89.

McCorvey serves as the primary liaison between Swinney and the athletic and IPTAY administration. He also oversees the management of the football administrative offices.

His return had a positive effect on the program in 2009 when Clemson won the Atlantic Division of the ACC for the first time and finished the season in the top 25 of the AP poll.

McCorvey supervises the football budget and works with the staff at Vickers Hall to oversee the team's academic progress. He also makes speaking engagements and represents the football staff at various meetings and functions.

McCorvey worked seven years at Clemson from 1983-89. With McCorvey coaching the tight ends from 1983-85 and the wideouts from 1986-89, Clemson posted a 60-19-3 record and won three ACC titles. During that time, the Tigers were invited to the 1985 Independence Bowl, the 1986 and 1989 Gator Bowls, and the 1988 and 1989 Citrus Bowls. Clemson posted a 10-2 record in each of his last three seasons under Ford. Among the student-athletes he recruited were future Pro Bowlers Donnell Woolford and Chester McGlockton. He also coached future NFL players Keith Jennings and K.D. Dunn.

McCorvey coached at the Division I level for 26 years and went to a bowl game 17 of those seasons. Overall, he had 36 years of experience as a football coach. He coached or signed 36 players who went on to a professional football career as well.

From 1990-08, he coached in the SEC every year, including each of the last five at Mississippi State, where he served as assistant head coach and offensive coordinator in addition to coaching the quarterbacks. He was a big reason the Bulldogs won eight games, including wins over Auburn, Alabama, and Mississippi, in 2007.

McCorvey coached at Tennessee for five years (1999-03). With him heading the running game, the Volunteers had a 46-14 record. He helped guide Tennessee to the 2000 Fiesta Bowl, 2001 Cotton Bowl, 2002 Citrus Bowl, and 2002 and 2003 Peach Bowls. Tennessee also won three consecutive New Year's Day Bowl games (2000-02).

Under McCorvey's leadership, Tennessee maintained the school's reputation of having an outstanding rushing attack. The Volunteers led the SEC in rushing in 1999, averaging 191.3 yards per game. His work helped tailback Travis Stephens pace the SEC in rushing yards (1,464) in 2001. One year prior, McCorvey helped tailback Travis Henry finish second in the league and 14th in the nation in rushing yards (1,314). Another of his protégés was Jamal Lewis, who finished in the top five on the Tennessee career rushing list and was the #5 overall pick of the 2000 NFL draft.

Prior to joining the staff at Tennessee, McCorvey worked one season at South Carolina, where he served as the wide receivers coach in 1998 under current Tiger Associate Head Coach Brad Scott.

McCorvey took the South Carolina job following an eight-year stay at Alabama from 1990-97. He served seven seasons as its wide receivers coach and the 1996 campaign as offensive coordinator. He was the assistant head coach in 1997 as well.

Alabama had five top-25 final rankings in his tenure, including three seasons in the top five. The Crimson Tide won the 1992 national title with McCorvey serving as wide receivers coach and Swinney as one of his student-athletes. That season culminated with a 34-13 win over heavily-favored Miami (FL) in the Sugar Bowl. Current Clemson Assistant Coach Danny Pearman was also on that staff.

From 1990-96, Alabama had a 70-16-1 record and played in six bowl games. With him at the controls of the offense in 1996, Alabama was 10-3, including a win over Michigan in the Outback Bowl.

From 1979-82, he served as an assistant coach at Alabama A&M and helped that program to the #6 rushing offense in Division II in 1981 after finishing 11th in the nation in scoring offense the previous year. McCorvey began his collegiate coaching career at North Carolina Central in 1978.

McCorvey began his coaching career with a six-year stint (1972-77) at J.M. Tate Senior High School in Florida. A quarterback at Alabama State from 1968-71, he earned his bachelor's degree from Alabama State in 1972 and a master's degree from West Florida in 1977.

In November of 2010, McCorvey will be inducted into the Atmore, AL Hall of Fame. The Atmore, AL native is married to the former Ann Brown. The couple has a son, Marlon.

Daniel Bassett

Director of Football Programs

- 5th Season at Clemson
- Tennessee '01
- Born November 23, 1978

Daniel Bassett is in his second year as director of football programs at Clemson. He is in charge of on-campus meals and housing, maintaining the recruiting database, and community outreach. Prior to being hired as director of football programs in 2008, he worked as a student volunteer and later in office administration (2003-05).

He received his undergraduate degree in broadcasting from Tennessee in 2001. He then came to Clemson, where he earned his master's degree in professional communication in 2005.

The Birmingham, AL native was born November 23, 1978.

Jeff Davis

Assistant Athletic Director Player Relations & External Affairs

- 7th Season at Clemson
- Clemson '84
- Born January 26, 1960

Jeff Davis is in his second year as assistant athletic director for player relations & external affairs within the Clemson football program. During the previous five years, he served as an assistant athletic director for fundraising, where he helped raise funds for the WestZone Club at Memorial Stadium. He also served as the primary spokesman for Clemson University's Call Me Mister Program and served as director of that program from 1999-03.

Davis was an All-America linebacker from 1978-81 who captained the Tigers during their 1981 national title run. "The Judge" registered a then-Tiger-record 175 tackles in 1981. That same season, he became just the third defensive player in ACC history to be named league MVP. Davis had 14 tackles as Clemson topped Nebraska 22-15 in the 1982 Orange Bowl to claim its first national title. He was named to Clemson's Centennial Team in 1996. In 1995, he became the fourth member of the Clemson Ring of Honor. Then in 2002, he was named to the ACC's 50-Year Anniversary team.

In 2007, he was awarded the highest honor attainable for a college football player when he was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Football Hall of Fame. Davis has made a name for himself outside of the Clemson community. A fifth-round draft pick by Tampa Bay in 1982, he played six productive seasons in the NFL. During his time as a professional, he also completed his remaining coursework and graduated from Clemson in 1984.

In 1999, he returned to Clemson as field director of Call Me Mister. It seeks to recruit, train, certify, and secure employment for African-American males as elementary teachers in the state's public schools. In 2001, he was awarded $100,000 for the program from Oprah Winfrey's "Angel Network." He is president of Goal Line Stand, which supports young people as adults as they seek to remain committed to values that shape and govern their lives. The ordained pastor lives in Clemson with his wife Joni and their six children.

Mike Dooley

Director of H.S. Relations & Player Personnel

- 6th Season at Clemson
- Furman '98
- Born May 1, 1975

Mike Dooley is in his sixth year with the Tiger football program and serves as director of high school relations & player personnel.

He is responsible for maintaining and improving relationships between high school coaches and Clemson.

Prior to being hired at his current position, he served two years (2005-06) as a video graduate assistant (defense) and two years (2007-08) as a graduate assistant coach (offense) at Clemson. Dooley also served as interim tight ends coach in 2008 when Dabo Swinney was hired as head coach at midseason.

Dooley worked as an assistant coach at Greenville (SC) High School from 1998-04 before coming to Clemson. His responsibilities included defensive coordinator from 2000-04 and assistant head coach in 2004. In his last three years, Greenville High had a 33-4 record, including a 12-1 mark in 2003.

Dooley is a native of Toccoa, GA. He lettered as a defensive end at Furman from 1993-1995, but he missed his senior season due to injury. He had a sack against Clemson in Memorial Stadium in 1994. Furman reached the Division I-AA playoffs in his final season with the Paladins. He was also an academic honor roll member and received his degree in health & exercise science from Furman in 1998.

Andy Johnston

Associate Athletic Director Football Operations

- 14th Season at Clemson
- Clemson '79
- Born May 22, 1957

Andy Johnston is in his 14th year with the Tiger football program and currently serves as associate athletic director for football operations. His responsibilities include managing the program's day-to-day operations. In his 14 years, Clemson has gone to 12 bowl games. Although this is his 14th year with the football program, he has been involved with the Clemson athletic department for 28 years. From 1983-97, he was the winningest women's tennis coach in school history.

In those 15 years, Johnston guided his squads to five consecutive ACC titles (1983-87), 12 top-25 finishes, and six NCAA Tournaments. He was ACC Coach-of-the-Year for the fourth time and Southeast Region Coach-of-the-Year for the second time in 1993. Seven players he coached at Clemson were named to the ACC 50-Year Anniversary team in 2002.

Johnston had a 254-160 Clemson record and 263-167 career mark. He was the coach at Furman in 1982 before coming to Clemson. His best season at Clemson was his rookie year when the team had a 30-5 record and finished #7 in the polls. That team won all nine flights of the ACC Tournament, the only tennis team in Tiger history to do that. He coached former Lady Tiger Gigi Fernandez, who was inducted into the Clemson Hall of Fame in 2005.

Johnston played for Clemson on the hardcourt and earned his degree in administrative management in 1979. He then served as the assistant men's tennis coach during the 1980 season.

Johnston is a native of Summerville, SC. He is married to the former Sophie Woorsons. He has a daughter, Kiera (20), and a son, Noah (3). A second daughter, Caylynn, passed away in 2008.

- Born February 13, 1962

Don Munson in his first year with the Clemson Athletic Department in a full-time capacity. He is a familiar name to Tiger fans because of his involvement with the Clemson radio network for the last 16 years.

Munson took over the new position of Creative Media Services Director in July, 2010. He has department-wide responsibilities, with an emphasis on football. He supervises the football recruiting website and social media sites, provides video features for ClemsonTigers.com, authors articles for various Clemson publications and websites, and serves as the Master of Ceremonies for the Prowl & Growl meetings in the spring. He also continues to serve as the host of the Clemson football and basketball coaches radio call-in program, "Tiger Calls," and provides play-by-play commentary on various Clemson Olympic sports.

Munson has covered Clemson athletics since 1994, when he first joined the network as the network's football pregame, halftime, and Fifth Quarter Show host. In 1995, he moved into a full-time position with the Clemson Sports Network as an on-air host and affiliate relations manager. In 1997, he was named operations manager and became part of the basketball broadcasts as a pregame, halftime, and locker room reporter.

In 2003, he rejoined the radio network as host of the Tiger Tailgate Show and Fifth Quarter Show. When Jim Phillips passed away in September of 2003, he assumed the duties as host of Tiger Calls and play-by-play announcer for women's basketball and baseball.

Munson is a 1984 graduate of Appalachian State with a B.S. degree in communications. He was the play-by-play voice at Appalachian State from 1984-91. In 1993, he served a season as the play-by-play voice of Western Carolina and in 1994 was the voice of the UNC Asheville men's basketball broadcasts.

Married on May 26, 1984, Munson and his wife, Elizabeth, have one child, Michelle (19).

Danny Poole

Director of Sports Medicine

- 28th Season at Clemson
- Western Carolina '79
- Born June 7, 1957

Danny Poole is in his 10th season as Clemson's director of sports medicine, but he is a veteran of more than 27 years working in the Tiger athletic training facility. He supervises the athletic training needs of all student-athletes, but his primary area of emphasis is with the football program. He has 30 years of full-time experience in the athletic training field.

Poole served as head athletic trainer for the Carolina Chargers of the American Football Association in 1979. In 1980, he became an assistant trainer at Memphis. During his career as a full-time assistant there, he earned his master's degree in health education. He came to Clemson in 1984 as an assistant under trainer Fred Hoover.

A 1979 Western Carolina graduate, Poole earned a bachelor's degree in health & physical education. He was a student trainer for the Catamounts for four years. He was published in the NATA Journal in 1979, "The D.P. Method for Blisters," as a student at Western Carolina.

Poole was honored in 2001 by his peers with the Athletic Trainers Service Award. The award is presented by the National Athletic Trainers Association to role models who are future leaders of the training profession. The Charlotte, NC native is married to the former Beth Morgan. The couple has two daughters, Jacqui Elaine (23) and Abby Blair (21).

Alphonso Smith

Director of Equipment

- 15th Season at Clemson
- Clemson '91

Alphonso Smith is in his 15th season at Clemson, and he is in his 11th year overseeing all equipment operations. Smith served as a men's basketball manager during his undergraduate and graduate years at Clemson from 1985-92. He was a member of the staff of Clemson's only ACC regular-season championship team in history (1990). Smith also served as a graduate assistant in 1992.

Smith worked as assistant equipment supervisor at Memphis for three years. He was responsible for assisting the football program and was in charge of men's and women's basketball, women's golf, and men's and women's track & field.

He is a 1991 graduate of Clemson, as he earned his degree in social science secondary education. He is a member of the Athletic Equipment Managers Association and is the district III director. He was also named Equipment Manager-of-the-Year for District III in 2006-07. Smith is married to the former Kim Teel of Omaha, NE. The couple has a son, Andree Christopher, and daughter, Lauryn Louise.

MEMORIAL STADIUM

"Death Valley"

Clemson's Memorial Stadium has been held in high esteem for many years. Whether it be players from the 1940s and 1950s, opposing players from the 1970s and 1980s, or even professional players in the 1990s, the ambiance of this special setting is what college football is all about.

The storied edifice added to its legend when the first meeting of father and son head coaches (Bowden Bowl I) took place before a sellout crowd of more than 86,000 fans in 1999. Clemson has been in the top 20 in the nation in attendance 29 straight seasons. A crowd has exceeded 80,000 fans 55 times since the 1983 season. In 2009, Clemson was 17th in the nation in average home attendance.

The facility's mystique is derived from its many traditions, which date to its opening in 1942, the legendary games and players, and Clemson's corresponding rate of success. Clemson has won 251 games in 68 years there and has won over 71 percent of the contests (251-97-7).

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers, but it was constructed against the advice of at least one coach. Just before Head Coach Jess Neely left for Rice after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message.

"Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the YMCA. That's all you'll ever need."

Instead of following Neely's advice, however, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place took some clearing, as there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work, clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally on September 19, 1942, Memorial Stadium opened with Clemson defeating Presbyterian College 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for Opening Day would soon grow.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 1940s, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

The construction of Memorial Stadium did not proceed without problems. One afternoon during the clearing of the land, a young player proudly announced that he was not allergic to poison oak. He then proceeded to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, the boy was swollen twice his size and was hospitalized.

There are many other stories about the stadium, including one that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner as the concrete poured.

Howard said that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he said. "After three weeks on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through.

"I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far and I would give them three more weeks' pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that, it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard said that on the day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 and we played at 2:00." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added, and in 1960, 5,658 west endzone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large east endzone ("Green Grass" section), this expansion increased capacity to 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled - the first in 1978 and the second in 1983. It increased capacity to over 80,000, which makes it one of the nation's largest on-campus stadiums. In 2006, the West Zone was added, an area that contains locker rooms and a luxury club level that holds 1,000 seats.

The effect that inflation has had can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of Memorial Stadium was built at a cost of only $125,000, or $6.25 per seat. The stadium's newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 per seat.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged by the late Presbyterian College Coach Lonnie McMillan in the late 1940s. After bringing his teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, he said the place was like "Death Valley." A few years later, the name stuck.

"Running down the Hill is still talked about everywhere I go. Players who played against Clemson when I was in college remember us running down the Hill and thinking we would gain some type of spirit. The adrenaline rush was unbelievable for a Clemson player and quite a shock for the opponent."

Former Clemson All-American Jerry Butler

"I came here knowing it would be loud and Clemson would hit hard, but the noise was the biggest factor. I didn't concentrate as well because of it."

Herschel Walker after Clemson's 13-3 win in 1981, his only regular-season loss

"The Rock has strange powers. When you rub it and run down the Hill, the adrenaline flows. It's the most emotional experience I've ever had."

Six-time All-Pro and Tiger All-American Michael Dean Perry

"When Clemson players rub that Rock and run down the Hill, it's the most exciting 25 seconds in college football."

Brent Musburger, ABC Sports

"There is no place louder or more picturesque than Death Valley. There, where Clemson folks see magic in a hill and a rock, orange gets more respect than anywhere this side of Gainesville, Florida."

Terence Moore, Atlanta Journal-Constitution

"When you get to the bottom of the Hill, it's like you're in a hole and all around you are nothing but Clemson fans. It's like the crowd is one big voice. You feel like little kings."

Former Clemson running back Rodney Blunt

"Death Valley really lives up to its image. I was impressed with this stadium. When you put 80,000 people in there, it feels like they are on top of you. I'd hate to be whoever comes here to play Clemson."

San Francisco quarterback Steve Young

"Florida was loud in the swamp. But the loudest, not only stadium, but the loudest place I have ever been around in my life was definitely Death Valley. I was yelling at the top of my lungs and I couldn't even hear what I was saying. That place was unreal in how loud it was. I don't think I will ever be in a louder place than Clemson."

Florida State quarterback Chris Rix, 2001

"I'm very thankful that we're playing a day game at Clemson. The last time we were up there, it was extremely loud. I yelled the calls to my guard, but we couldn't hear each other and we couldn't hear each other in the huddle. When you have fans that can get that loud and distract offenses like that, that's as important as having an All-American on your defense."

Florida State center David Castillo, 2005

"In 2005, Clemson's Memorial Stadium, commonly known as 'Death Valley,' reached an astounding 126 decibels when a packed crowd of 79,135 fans observed Charles Bennett's sack of Kyle Wright during the Tigers' three-overtime heartbreaker against Miami (FL). This level easily surpassed the old record of 121 decibels set by Louisiana State fans in Tiger Stadium, which holds 92,400 fans."

RealFootball365.com

"The game when I was a sophomore (in 2005) stands out for me. What an awesome place that is to play. I'll never forget that atmosphere, and I know for a fact I've never seen so much orange in one place at one time. If you've never been there, going out on the field for the first time at Clemson is incredible."

Boston College quarterback Matt Ryan, 2007

"We go to a lot of great venues for college football, but this place doesn't take a back seat to any place. In terms of the atmosphere, stadium, the noise, and the facilities, this is a special place on a Saturday night."

ESPN commentator Todd Blackledge, 2009

"When you go down there, there are a couple of things you know. It's going to be loud. It's going to be challenging and it's going to be fun. It's a great atmosphere. There is real football fever and it is not just a Saturday afternoon activity. There is a real passion and real fever for Clemson football. I've always enjoyed going there because it is challenging."

Virginia Head Coach Al Groh, 2009

In 1974, the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to Clemson University.

Luckily, it wasn't built behind the YMCA.

RUNNING DOWN THE HILL

"The Most Exciting 25 Seconds in College Football"

What has been described as, "the most exciting 25 seconds in college football" from a color and pageantry standpoint actually started out as a matter-of-fact entrance, mainly because of necessity.

The first 20,000 seats in Memorial Stadium were built and ready for use before the 1942 season, less than a year after Pearl Harbor was bombed and the United States was drawn into World War II.

The shortest entry into Memorial Stadium was a short walk down Williamson Road from Fike Fieldhouse's dressing rooms to a gate at the top of the Hill, which is located behind the east endzone. There were no dressing facilities inside the west endzone of Memorial Stadium...there was only a giant clock, where the hands turned, and a scoreboard that was operated manually by hand.

The team would dress at Fike Fieldhouse, walk down Williamson Road, come in the gate underneath where the scoreboard now stands, and jog down the Hill for its warmup exercises. There was no fanfare, no cannon shot fired, no Tiger Paw flag, no "Tiger Rag" played...just the team making its entrance and lining up to do the side-straddle hop. That is pretty much the way things went for the next 25 years.

Either in 1964 or 1965, S.C. Jones, a member of the class of 1919, made a trip to California. He stopped at a spot in Death Valley, CA and picked up a white flint rock. He presented it to Head Coach Frank Howard as being from Death Valley, California to Death Valley, South Carolina.

The rock laid on the floor in Howard's office in Fike Fieldhouse for years. One day, he was cleaning up his office and

The Rock was mounted on a pedestal at the top of the Hill on the east side of the stadium. It was unveiled September 24, 1966 when Clemson played Virginia. The Tigers were down 18 points with 17 minutes left and came back to win 40-35 on a 65-yard pass from Jimmy Addison to Jack Jackson in the fourth quarter. That was quite a debut for the Rock.

The team members started rubbing the Rock prior to running down the Hill on September 23, 1967, a day when Clemson de-told Gene Willimon, who was executive secretary of IPTAY, to "take this rock and throw it over the fence or out in the ditch...do something with it, but get it out of my office!"

Willimon did not think that was the way a rock should be treated. After all, it had been brought 2,200 miles by a very sincere Tiger fan.

By the mid-1960s, Memorial Stadium was living up to its moniker ("Death Valley") because of the number of Tiger wins that had been recorded there. Actually, the name was first used by Lonnie McMillan, head coach at Presbyterian College during the 1940s.

McMillan and the other Blue Hose coaches before him used to open each season by playing at Clemson. Seldom scoring (24 shutouts in 39 games) and with only three victories and four ties to show for it, his teams were getting "killed" by the Tigers regularly. In 1948, McMillan made the comment to the press that he was taking his team to play Clemson in "Death Valley."

An occasional reference to Memorial Stadium by that name could be heard for the next four years, but when Howard started calling it "Death Valley" in the 1950s, the name took off like wildfire. Clemson celebrated its 68th year in the "Valley" in 2009.

But getting back to Howard's Rock.

feated Wake Forest by a score of 23-6.

Prior to running down the Hill that day, Howard told his players, "If you're going to give me 110 percent, you can rub that Rock. If you're not, keep your filthy hands off it."

Howard told of the incident during the following day on his television show, and the story became legend.

When Hootie Ingram succeeded Howard as head coach prior to the 1970 campaign, Ingram decided that the team would make its final entrance on the field out of the dressing room in the west endzone. In all home games during the 1970 and 1971 seasons and the first four games of 1972 when the Tigers did not run down the Hill, their combined record was 6-9.

The team decided it wanted to come down the Hill once prior to the South Carolina contest during the 1972 season. The result, in a cold, freezing rain, was a 7-6 victory when Jimmy Williamson knocked down a two-point conversion attempt, which preserved the narrow win.

The Tigers have made the entrance for every home game since 1942, except for the seasons mentioned above (340 times entering the 2010 season).

After final warmups, the team gathers back in its dressing room under the west endzone stands for its final game instructions. Approximately 10 minutes prior to kickoff, the team boards three buses, rides around behind the north stands to the east endzone, and disembarks to the top of the Hill behind Howard's Rock.

At the appointed time, the cannon booms, and led by a giant Tiger Paw flag, the band forms two lines for the team to run between and strikes up "Tiger Rag"...the frenzy starts in all sincerity and usually lasts for three hours.

It is a tradition that has inspired Clemson players for many years.

WestZone

The everyday activities for the football program moved to Memorial Stadium on July 1, 2009. Tiger coaches moved into new offices in the WestZone of Memorial Stadium that day. A month later, the team made the locker room in Death Valley its full-time facility.

Additionally, a new equipment facility, athletic training facility, and strength training facility opened with all the modern conveniences of an NFL franchise's facility.

The new facility is 142,000 square feet, which adds over 50,000 square feet to previous facilities in the Jervey Athletic Center. It includes a two-floor strength training facility that is 14,000 square feet, among the largest dedicated solely for football in the nation.

"The motto for our program since I became head coach is 'All-In,'" said Head Coach Dabo Swinney. "This facility shows any Clemson football player, recruit, or supporter that our University is 'All-In' with this football program. The facility is among the best in the nation and allows our student-athletes to develop and become the best they can be."

The equipment room has been expanded to include, among other items, new offices and a new laundry room that encompasses approximately 6,000 square feet of space. The football staff offices and meeting rooms are composed of approximately 4,000 square feet of existing space and more than 18,000 square feet of new space.

The facility includes offices for the head coach, assistant coaches, and support staff along with position meeting rooms and a 150-seat auditorium with a sloped floor and theater seating.

The training room, located on the north side of the home team's locker room, is expanded to include a new hydrotherapy room, new offices, and examination rooms. The training room occupies about 6,200 square feet of space as well.

The level-three concourse has been expanded with the addition of the football offices. This space, the roof of the new football offices, is utilized for gameday marketing activities and to provide fans additional space to gather inside the stadium.

Clemson is committed to building a model sports program - one that propels our university into achieving and maintaining national athletic rankings that rival our competitors. The WestZone project is a major step forward in building a total sports program.

In order to be a consistent contender at the highest level of competition, Clemson must recruit the best student-athletes in the country - student-athletes who can compete both academically in the classroom and athletically on the field. The nation's best recruits are impressed by superior facilities, top coaches, and a strong sense of excitement along with school spirit. The student-athletes desire an environment in which they will have a positive, nurturing experience.

It is not a coincidence that the quality of Clemson's recruiting classes has improved dramatically since the WestZone project began in 2004.

Coaching is the most critical component of such an environment. An outstanding coach can sometimes transform meager resources into a good program, but the greatest success in college football comes when top-quality coaching combined with top-quality facilities allows that coach to recruit successfully on a consistent and continuing basis.

Former Clemson running back James Davis, the 2005 ACC Rookie-of-the-Year and now with the Cleveland Browns, stated that one of the biggest contributing factors in deciding on Clemson was the University's commitment to upgrading facilities. "Does Clemson want to be a championship program?" asked Davis when he was considering Clemson. "The WestZone (initiative) showed me that it does!"

Building success requires building for success. While the WestZone is located in Memorial Stadium, the completed project will provide resources for Clemson's total sports program, permitting all Tiger teams and athletes to compete with the nation's best. Moving all Clemson football operations to the WestZone has opened up space in the Jervy and McFadden buildings for the other 18 Clemson sports to improve their facilities for recruiting and have more office, training, conditioning, and sports medicine space. This will greatly enhance the overall performance, both on and off the field of competition, for all 19 of Clemson's intercollegiate sports.

A look to Clemson's athletic history shows the importance infrastructure enhancements have on the football program. The following chart summarizes the relationship.

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

A significant aspect of Phase II of the WestZone project at Memorial Stadium was the construction of a new strength training facility on the first floor that is adjacent to the Clemson locker room and the Frank Howard Field playing surface.

For the first time, there is a strength training facility exclusively for the development of the Clemson football team. Director of Strength & Conditioning Joey Batson, who is in his 14th season at Clemson, makes sure that all Tiger gridders are ready to compete against the top teams in the nation. In his first 13 years in Tigertown, Clemson has played in 11 bowl games and he has coached 19 strength All-Americans on the gridiron.

It is the fourth major facilities construction since Batson joined the Tiger football program, an example of his desire to keep Clemson at the forefront of strength training.

The new facility has the best in all strength training equipment, not to mention the existence of a new sound system and nine new flat-screen televisions that give Tiger football players a pleasant atmosphere to accomplish the most strenuous work.

The strength training facility actually has two floors. The first floor has all the free-weight equipment, including a dumbbell area, and the second floor is a cardio-equipment area.

Batson has a staff of eight assistants working with the football team. Joining Batson are veteran Strength Coaches David Abernethy, Larry Greenlee, and Zac Durham. Five more assistants deal in player development year-round. Those assistants include former Tigers Bobby Hutchinson, Brian Mance, and Damonte McKenzie along with Brandon McCombs and Reed Stringer.

Joey Batson

Director of Strength & Conditioning

- 14th Season at Clemson
- Newberry '85
- Born June 22, 1961

Joey Batson is in his 25th year as a strength & conditioning coach at the collegiate level and 14th year as director of strength & conditioning at Clemson. He has served as a head strength & conditioning coach 21 of his 25 years of service.

Batson was named master strength & conditioning coach by the Collegiate Strength & Conditioning Coaches Association (CSCCA) in 2009. This honor is the highest given in the strength & conditioning coaching profession. Batson was presented with a blue MSCC jacket on May 7, 2009. He also was named the FootballScoop.com National Strength Coach-of-the-Year powered by Muscle Milk.

Batson has had a strong impact on the Clemson program since he became director in 1997. He has had much to do with the success of the football program, helping the Tigers to 11 bowl games and five top-25 final rankings. While at Clemson, he has worked for three head football coaches and has had a tremendous impact throughout the state at many notable high school programs.

An example of his respect level in the profession is demonstrated by the number of former assistants who are now assistants and/or directors at other universities, including conferences such as the ACC and SEC, along with several high-profile high school programs in the state.

Not only does Batson bring professional experience to the position at Clemson, he brings experience as a football player at the collegiate level. The Travelers Rest, SC native was a tight end at The Citadel in 1979 before transferring to Newberry, where he was a two-year letterman and team co-captain during his senior season.

Batson earned his bachelor of arts degree in physical education from Newberry in 1985 and his master's degree in education from Clemson in 1988. Prior to his collegiate career, Batson was named to the 1977 all-state football team as a defensive end in high school.

Batson is married to the former Susan Malone of Greenville, SC. The couple has two sons, Michael and Benjamin.

The University of North Texas is the most comprehensive university in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, offering 97 bachelor's, 101 master's, and 48 doctoral degree programs, many nationally recognized. U.S. News & World consecutive years, UNT also provides more than 60 centers and institutes which serve the public good.

Founded in 1890 by Joshua C. Chilton, UNT started as the Texas Normal College & Teacher Training Institute on the second floor of a hardware store on the town square of Denton. The university grew over the years and changed its name six times along the way, with each change reflecting the growth in size, complexity, and educational breadth. The Texas Legislature approved the final change from North Texas State University to the University of North Texas in 1988.

UNT is in Denton, a college town of about 115,000 people located 35 miles north of Dallas and Fort Worth. The campus, which is the largest residential campus in the North Texas region, has 163 buildings on about 875 acres. The campus includes Discovery Park, UNT's nearly 285-acre research park, which is accessible by shuttle buses, as are a residence hall and athletic facilities at Eagle Point and the Mean Green Village, which will be home to the football team's new stadium opening in 2011.

Todd Dodge
Head Coach

Report put UNT among the top national universities that are "leading the pack" in innovative changes.

The flagship of the UNT System, UNT is a thriving university with a legacy of excellence in a broad range of academic areas. It is also one of the largest universities in Texas, enrolling more than 34,000 students. UNT takes pride in its outstanding faculty, high academic standards, and diverse student body. UNT offers a traditional college experience at an affordable cost and Division I athletics. Named one of America's 100 Best College Buys® for 14

HOW WILL YOU

LEAD

Marcelo Fernandes '10

Microbiology

When Marcelo Fernandes moved to Clemson from his birthplace, Belem, Brazil, at age seven, the local university seemed so, well, ... local. However, the longtime Clemson fan just couldn't bring himself to go anywhere else, and today he calls his choice of Clemson University the "best decision I've ever made."

Fernandes' hard work has earned him acceptances from nine medical schools, allowing him to pick from among some of the nation's finest. This year, he begins studies at Duke University School of Medicine, where he earned a full scholarship. He will be pursuing his dream of becoming an endocrinologist and putting his exceptional talent to work.

The Will to
LEAD
A CAMPAIGN FOR CLEMSON

This year, Clemson launches the Will to Lead: A Campaign for Clemson, an effort to raise more than $600 million to support Clemson students and faculty by July 2012.

Every day the lives of Clemson students are changed through the generous gifts of our alumni and friends. Our donors make a difference by providing scholarships and fellowships, and supporting programs that build in students the skills they need to develop innovative thinking for today's knowledge-based economy.

Will you be the one to make a difference?
Will you lead? Make your gift or find out more at www.clemson.edu/giving.

When I say "good,"
you say "neighbor."

Now that's teamwork.

Call, click, or visit your nearby State Farm® agent for your insurance needs, and see how it feels to be on a #1 team.

VICKERY HALL

VICKERY HALL

Student-Athlete Enrichment Program

Since its inception in 1991, the Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs have provided student-athletes a continued commitment to excellence. Our approach is to address the total student-athlete, and we are committed to coaching our student-athletes to success in the academic, personal growth, career, and community service arenas.

As an original member of the NCAA CHAMPS/Life Skills Program, we provide opportunities and services to address the changing needs and skills of student-athletes during college and after graduation. This program was selected for the FBS Athletic Director's Association "Program of Excellence" Award, a lifetime award recognizing CHAMPS/Life Skills excellence.

Clemson's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the best facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium and the beautiful WestZone, to the "New Littlejohn Coliseum," to the state-of-the-art strength training facility, young men and women from all of Clemson's intercollegiate varsity sports have the best in facilities for both training and competition.

The Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs are housed in Vickery Hall, located in the center of campus. The $3-million structure is as impressive aesthetically as other athletic facilities. It recently underwent $300,000 in renovations to further assist our student-athletes in the classroom. But the importance of Vickery Hall to our student-athletes is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in 1991 and was the first facility in the country constructed solely to provide academic support to student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000 square-foot building is open all day and into the evening hours to accommodate student-athletes' extended schedules.

Vickery Hall programs are dedicated to providing a holistic, educational experience by inspiring an environment of respect, integrity, and excellence. Through these services,

Vickery Hall guides and encourages each individual to reach his or her full potential as a student, athlete, and citizen.

Academic Commitment

Over 50 percent of Clemson's student-athletes were on the academic honor roll for the fall and spring semesters in 2009-10. Seven of the 15 programs had team GPAs of at least 3.0 and the overall GPA was 2.92 for the spring semester, third-highest on record. There were 114 student-athletes on the Dean's List, including 39 who posted a perfect 4.0 GPA for the semester.

The programs that posted a 3.0 GPA or better were the women's soccer (3.40), women's swimming & diving (3.28), women's track & field (3.23), men's soccer (3.16), rowing (3.13), men's tennis (3.04), and women's tennis (3.04) teams.

The number of sports programs with a 3.0 or better is a testament to the impact Vickery Hall and its staff has had on the academic performance of the Clemson program. Clemson had just five total programs with at least a 3.0 for the eight semesters prior to the facility opening in 1991. Now there are seven different programs in one semester.

The women's tennis (#11), rowing (#15), and women's track & field (#18) teams also ranked in the top 20 in the nation in their final meet or poll in addition to achieving a team GPA of 3.0 or better.

For the first time ever, all 15 programs had at least a 2.5 GPA in the same semester. The seven teams with at least a 3.0 GPA were just one short of the record of eight different programs with a 3.0 GPA in one semester.

The Clemson football team posted a 2.56 GPA for the semester and 33 of the team members had at least a 3.0 GPA. It was the third straight semester the football team had at least 30 members make the academic honor roll, the second-longest streak in the program's history (four in a row in 1999-01). The list of academic honor roll members included first-team All-American DeAndre McDaniel, starting center Dalton Freeman, who made the Dean's List, and First-Team All-ACC tight end Michael Palmer, who had a 4.0 GPA and graduated in May.

Seven members of the football team were named to the All-ACC Academic team. The Tigers had the second-most selections to the team, trailing only Duke (12). The seven selections were the most ever for the Clemson program. The ACC has selected an All-ACC Academic football team every year since 1954. The previous Tiger record was five selections in 1965, 1985, 2001, 2007, and 2008.

Members of the 2009 Tiger team who were selected included Thomas Austin, Mason Cloy, Dalton Freeman, Rashard Hall, Brandon Maye, Michael Palmer, and Dawson Zimmerman. Austin was also a third-team All-American and Palmer was a First-Team All-ACC selection.

Athletic Commitment

Clemson was one of eight schools in the nation to be selected for a bowl game, the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament, and the NCAA Baseball Tournament in 2009-10. The Tigers joined Florida State as the only schools in the nation to go to a bowl, the NCAA Basketball Tournament, and the College World Series. It was the ninth year Clemson played in a bowl game, the NCAA Basketball Tournament, and the NCAA Baseball Tournament in the same academic year.

Clemson became the first school in the ACC to capture a division title in both baseball and football in the same athletic season. The football team defeated Virginia at home on November 21 to clinch the Atlantic Division title, while baseball completed a sweep of Florida State on May 22 to earn the division championship.

The Tiger program also collected ACC Championships in women's indoor and outdoor track & field.

Clemson closed the 2009-10 academic year with a rush, as five spring sports finished with top-20 national rankings. The baseball (#4), women's tennis (#11), rowing (#15), men's golf (#16), and women's track & field (#18) squads all finished in the top 20. It was just the second time in school history that Clemson had five top-20 programs during the spring. The spring of 1992 is the only other year it has happened. Overall, Clemson had seven of its 19 programs rank in the final top 25 of their respective polls.

Running back C.J. Spiller was a first-round draft pick of the Buffalo Bills in the 2010 NFL draft. He was the #9 overall selection. In June, outfielder Kyle Parker was the #26 overall selection in the first round of the Major League baseball draft by the Colorado Rockies. Forward Trevor Booker of the men's basketball team followed suit as the #23 overall selection in the NBA draft by the Washington Wizards. Clemson and Georgia Tech were the only two schools in the nation with a first-round draft pick in all three sports in 2009-10.

The Tiger program also produced an NCAA Champion in 2010 when Patricia Mamona of the track & field team won the outdoor triple jump.

This brief NCAA rules education is aimed at outlining basic rules to help potential Clemson students-athletes, parents, and boosters better understand the regulations. Clemson University is committed to recruiting and conducting our athletic program with the highest level of integrity. If you have questions about NCAA rules, please contact Clemson's compliance services at (864) 656-1580, through our website at ClemsonTigers.com, or via email at compliance-L@clemson.edu.

Are You a Booster?

The NCAA definition of a "representative of athletics interest" generally encompasses most individuals who regularly attend Clemson sporting events (reminder - once a representative, always a representative). Specifically, a booster or "representative of athletics interests" is any individual, independent agency, corporate entity, or other organization that is presently or has ever:

- Participated in promoting the institution's athletic program (such as buying season tickets to sporting events).
- Assisted in providing benefits (such as summer employment) to enrolled student-athletes.
- Assisted or been requested by the department of athletics staff to assist in the recruitment of prospective student-athletes.
- Attended Clemson University.
- Contributed to the department of athletics or IPTAY.
- Participated in or been a member of IPTAY.
- Been otherwise involved in the Clemson University athletics program.

Ask Before You Act

Prospective student-athletes may...

- Identify outstanding potential student-athletes in your area and forward information, such as newspaper articles, to the coach of that sport at Clemson.
- Continue to establish friendships with friends and neighbors, even those with prospect-aged children. However, contact for recruiting purposes is still prohibited.
- Attend, on your own initiative, events such as games and banquets where prospective student-athletes are present as long as you do not contact the prospect(s) or their family for recruiting purposes.
- Answer a call from a prospective student-athlete (you may not initiate the call) regarding only Clemson University in general, but not about Tiger athletics. Please promptly inform compliance services or the coach should this situation arise.
- Make donations to a high school if it is located in your community, the donation is not made at the request of Clemson or Clemson coaches, and the funds are distributed through established channels and not directed towards a specific student-athlete.

CUAD Mission Statement

The Department of Athletics offers nationally prominent athletic programs. Through a dedicated commitment to educational interests, a competitive athletic program, and integrity in all areas, the student-athletes, coaches, and staff strive to bring credit and recognition to Clemson University.

The mission of the Athletic Department is to sponsor a broad-based athletic program that provides educational and athletic opportunities for young men and women to grow, develop, and serve the interests of Clemson University by complementing and enhancing its diversity and quality of life.

Furthermore, the Athletic Department seeks to be a source of pride for the citizens of the State of South Carolina and to be recognized as a nationally-prominent program, through consistently high levels of performance and accomplishment in athletic competitions.

The Athletic Department strives to develop student-athletes academically and athletically with the total commitment of aiding their efforts to graduate from Clemson University and advance to careers that will enable them to be productive members of society.

The Athletic Department will act in an ethical and honest manner, dedicated to compliance with all Federal, State, NCAA, Conference, and University rules and regulations.

Current student-athletes may...

- Continue to come out and support student-athletes at Clemson athletic events.
- Provide summer employment to student-athletes, but only if you contact Clemson's office of compliance services (compliance-L@clemson.edu) first and the student-athlete is compensated for work actually performed at a rate commensurate with the going rate in the locality for similar services.

What Every Booster Should Know

- Extra Benefit - Any special arrangement by a Clemson employee, booster (IPTAY member), or alum to provide a prospective or enrolled student-athlete or their families and friends with a benefit not permitted by NCAA legislation. Examples of prohibited benefits include (but not limited to):
 - Arranging employment for family and friends of the student-athlete.
 - Free or reduced housing agreements.
 - Gifts of money, awards, food/drinks, or other tangible items.
 - Loans of money or automobiles.
 - Professional services without charge or at a discount.
 - Promises of employment or loans following college graduation.
 - Providing transportation for the student-athlete or their friends and family.
 - Use of ATM, credit, or other types of gift cards.
- Institutional Control - A central principle of the NCAA bylaws. Institutional control requires that Clemson University conducts its intercollegiate athletics program in compliance with NCAA rules and regulations. This includes booster activities.
- Prospective Student-Athlete - A student, regardless of their athletic ability, who has started classes for the ninth grade or any student enrolled at another two or four-year institution.
- Recruiting - Any solicitation of a prospect or a prospect's family by Clemson's coaches or representatives of athletic interest for the purposes of securing the prospective student-athlete's ultimate enrollment and participation in athletics at Clemson. Only designated Clemson athletics department staff members may recruit.
- Student-Athlete - A student whose enrollment was solicited by a member of the Clemson athletic department staff or other representative of athletics interest with a goal of the student's ultimate participation in Clemson's intercollegiate athletics program. Student-athletes are not just those that were recruited or receive athletic scholarships, they are also those that participate in intercollegiate athletics.

Activities That Will Harm Prospective Student-Athletes You may not...

- Contact (including phone calls, texts, and email) or interact with a prospective student-athlete or their family for the purpose of persuading them to attend Clemson.
- Contact coaches, guidance counselors, or other school administrators in order to gain information on prospective student-athletes.
- Make contact with a prospective student-athlete or the prospect's family during official or unofficial visits to Clemson.
- Provide any other extra benefits to prospective student-athlete, family, friends, or their coaches.
- Provide prospective student-athletes or their family and friends with transportation or financial assistance.

Activities That Will Harm Current Student-Athletes You may not...

- Generally provide benefits that are not available to other members of the Clemson student body.
- Provide extra benefits to student-athletes or their family and friends. Examples of prohibited benefits include (but not limited to):
 - Gifts of money, awards, food/drinks, or other tangible items.
 - Free or reduced housing agreements.
 - Loans of money or automobiles.
 - Occasional meals.
 - Professional services without charge or at a discount.
 - Promises of employment or loans following college graduation.
 - Providing transportation for the student-athlete or their friends and family.
 - Sending student-athletes items to be autographed and returned or using autographed items to raise funds for high schools.
 - Use of ATM, credit, or other types of gift cards.
 - Use the name or image of a current student-athlete to advertise, recommend, or promote products or services.

Consequences

Violations of these NCAA, ACC, and University policies can result in severe penalties, including:

- Disassociation - Clemson University may permanently disassociate itself with an athletic booster. You could lose the privilege of purchasing season tickets, the privilege of being an IPTAY member, or any other Clemson athletic-related benefit deemed appropriate.
- Harm to the Enrolled Student-Athlete - Violations can also result in the enrolled student-athlete or entire team being unable to compete for Clemson University.

The IPTAY Representative program continues to be one of the most important marketing tools available for the growth of the IPTAY Scholarship Fund. This group of nearly 700 women and men throughout the country volunteer their time to encourage those in their communities and in their circle of influence to join IPTAY on an annual basis and to support Clemson in all endeavors. Despite economic challenges throughout the state and region, IPTAY had a successful 2010 campaign due to the tireless efforts of this group.

The recruitment of new donors, those who have a potential for leadership gifts, and creating a link between Clemson and its constituents is the goal of each IPTAY representative. With the continued leadership provided by the IPTAY Board of Directors and our past presidents, the REP program will continue to be successful. If you are interested in becoming an IPTAY representative, contact Jason Wilson via email at wilson@clemson.edu.

MAJOR GIFTS PROGRAM

Respecting History · Embracing Change

Humble Beginnings

From the humble beginnings of playing on Bowman Field in the late 1800s and early 1900s and the building of Historic Riggs Field in 1915, Clemson has a storied past that is very much embraced today.

Under early leaders, such as Walter M. Riggs and John Heisman, the Tigers built the foundation that maintains Clemson athletics as a vital force. Fike Fieldhouse was built in 1930 and Memorial Stadium was erected in a valley in 1942. IPTAY, a model for college booster organizations across the country, was born in 1934, providing educational opportunities for student-athletes.

Women's sports were added in the mid-1970s, and with this growth came the Jervey Athletic Center in 1973. The most recent athletic facility added was the WestZone in 2009, transforming Memorial Stadium into one of the most modern facilities in the nation.

With this growth and expansion, it is interesting to note that Bowman Field, Historic Riggs Field, and Fike Fieldhouse are still in use today by varsity athletics and the student body. The Tigers are fortunate to have had outstanding early leaders who had bold and futuristic vision.

Exciting Future

As Clemson embarks on its athletics future, the philosophy of holistically developing the student-athlete continues to be at the forefront. IPTAY continues to provide the funding necessary to carry out this mission and lives up to its motto ("Championships Begin With Scholarships") by funding approximately 500 scholarships, Vickery Hall (student-athlete enrichment center), various facility projects, and the operation of IPTAY.

We are confident that future generations of male and female athletes will move beyond their fields of play and have a positive impact on the world, just as all of the student-athletes who have preceded them throughout the celebrated history of Clemson athletics. Our goal is to provide our student-athletes with championship-level fields, courts, classrooms, and civic and community-service education that is second-to-none in the country. If we expect the best upon graduation, we must invest in the best.

The exciting and visionary future plans include:

- Completion the WestZone Museum, Oculus, and North-west Concourse
- Renovation of Historic Riggs Field - a new gateway to the Athletic District
- Facility improvements and additions to Doug Kingsmore Stadium for our baseball program
- Expansion of the Hoke Sloan Tennis Facility
- Expanding the footprint of basketball - a master plan for Littlejohn Coliseum and the Huckabee Annex
- Funding our community-service initiatives

Please join Tiger athletics and IPTAY in supporting this important plan. Call our major gifts office at (864) 656-5208 for more details and to learn how you can help.

The Clemson Tiger Sports Network supplies fans with a full day of broadcast each football Saturday. Each broadcast day has three programs, "Tiger Tailgate Show," "Game Day Broadcast," and "Fifth Quarter Show."

A Tiger tradition since the 1970s, the "Tiger Tailgate Show" is a two-hour entertainment and interactive program. It is produced on the lawn of Littlejohn Coliseum at the corner closest to Memorial Stadium.

The program begins three hours prior to kickoff on gameday. Roy Philpott, David Stein, Dory Kidd, and Ben Milstead host the show. It is a popular gathering place. Interviews with former players, games, display items, and other exciting action are all part of the show.

The game broadcast is anchored by Pete Yanity. The sports director at WSPA-TV (Ch. 7) in Spartanburg, SC took over in 2003 after the passing of Jim Phillips, who had been the longtime Voice of the Tigers since 1968. Yanity has been a part of the broadcast team since 2001 as the host of the pregame, halftime, and postgame shows, and as the sideline reporter during games.

Yanity has been the sports director at WSPA-TV the last 20 years. He has also been a sideline analyst for 14 years on Carolina Panther preseason games and has play-by-play experience with CSS, covering various college events, including Tiger football and baseball games. Yanity is also the voice of Tiger men's basketball and host of the Dabo Swinney and Brad Brownell Television Shows.

Joining Yanity in the broadcast booth is former Tiger offensive lineman Will Merritt, who played for the Tigers from 1998-01. He was a starting offensive guard during the 2000 and 2001 seasons when he was named Second-Team All-ACC.

Merritt worked on the Clemson radio network pregame and postgame shows during the 2002 season. He also provided color commentary on the television tape-delay broadcasts of selected 2002 games. In 2003, he became the color analyst of the gameday broadcasts.

Patrick Sapp completes the broadcast team as the sideline commentator. The former Clemson quarterback and linebacker (1992-95) is in his fourth season as sideline commentator. As a player, Sapp passed for 2,278 yards in three seasons under center. During his senior campaign, he moved to linebacker, where he totaled 64 tackles and a team-high 5.5 sacks prior to being selected in the second round of the NFL draft by the San Diego Chargers. Sapp is currently a development officer for the Clemson Alumni Association.

As has been the case in the past, the gameday broadcast begins with the Dabo Swinney Pregame Show. Swinney meets with Sports Information Director Tim Bourret to provide Tiger fans with the latest lineup and strategy information. Yanity and Merritt also provide a last-minute scene-setter that includes the latest lineup and weather information.

After the game, fans can tune into the "Fifth Quarter Show," hosted by Dan Scott, or attend the show live from Wild Wing Cafe in downtown Greenville, SC. Interviews with Swinney along with Coordinators Billy Napier and Kevin Steele are also included. An added feature includes locker room interviews with Clemson's top players that day. A rundown of the game stats and audio highlights are also provided.

Fans can follow the Tigers by listening to "Tiger Calls" each Thursday evening with Swinney and Don Munson from 8:00 PM to 9:00 PM. The shows air live from several BI-LO grocery stores in the Clemson area.

The Clemson Tiger Sports Network also produces the Dabo Swinney Television Show, a recap of the previous contest's highlights. Yanity serves as the host of this program that gives Tiger fans insight into the coaches' decisions during the previous game and takes an up-close look at your favorite players.

For more information, contact Robert Stockhausen (general manager) at Clemson Tiger Sports Properties; 135 Old Greenville Highway; Suite 203; Clemson, SC 29631, by phone at (864) 654-5544, or via fax at (864) 654-5509.

TIGER BAND

"The Band That Shakes the Southland"

The Clemson University Tiger Band exists to actively promote and spread the Clemson spirit by representing the University with a positive attitude. Tiger Band creates an environment that provides leadership opportunities and fosters important life lessons. Tiger Band is dedicated to the expression of music and provides entertainment via a variety of musical and visual media. Through pride in Clemson, Tiger Band, and themselves, all members have the opportunity to succeed. Go Tigers!

Hawaii Five-O

Tiger Band will be competing for a $25,000 cash prize (which would be used to help offset the cost of new instruments for our growing brass section) with other college bands in a CBS Sports sponsored online contest. Bands will submit their video version of the television theme from "Hawaii Five-O" and fans will have a chance to vote for their favorite performance. Stay tuned for details in the coming weeks!

Today's Show

Blue Man Group is best known for its widely-popular theatrical shows and concerts that combine music, comedy, and multimedia theatrics to produce a totally unique form of entertainment. The blissful party atmosphere created at the live events has become the trademark of a Blue Man Group experience.

Today, Tiger Band pays tribute with its own version - Orange Man Group. The opening selection begins quietly with one Orange Man. Gradually, more and more instruments join the fray until the drumline takes over. The entire band finishes with a burst. Next, the Orange Men lead a wild Gypsy-style celebratory "Wedding Dance." Finally,

Clemson Alma Mater

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness
Where the Tigers play
Here the sons of dear old Clemson
Reign supreme alway.

Chorus

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might
That the Tigers' roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

the Orange Men guide a Hawaiian Luau bash, complete with hula dancers, fire batons, and a beach party.

Following the halftime performance will be the athletic hall of fame inductees.

CUTBA (Clemson University Tiger Band Association) exists to provide support and to promote the interests of Tiger Band, to provide support for other music activities and programs at Clemson University, and particularly, to provide funds and support of music scholarships and awards. LARRY B. PENLEY, JR.

GOLF FACILITY

Sometime this fall, ground will be broken on the Larry B. Penley, Jr. Golf Facility. It will give Tiger golfers a state-of-the-art facility that will be the physical cornerstone for the program on the Clemson campus.

The announcement that the facility would be named after Head Coach Larry Penley was made last December at the Tiger Golf Gathering at Thornblade Country Club in Greenville, SC. The announcement was made with great celebration by all in attendance.

"This is a great honor," said Penley, who has been Clemson's head coach since the fall of 1983. "I can't tell you how excited I am about this facility and what it means for our golf program. It means so much to have the former players contribute to its development. Our former players remain a part of this program. That is so important and gratifying to me personally."

Through the annual Tiger Golf Gathering tournament and donations by former Clemson golfers, including Lucas Glover, Charles Warren, and Jonathan Byrd, more than $750,000 has been raised so far to build the Larry B. Penley, Jr. Golf Facility. Twice in the last three years, Glover has contributed $100,000 from his President's Cup team selection in support of the project.

It will be located in the vicinity of the northern edge of the driving range in the area that is now a service road. The land was cleared for the building this past summer and construction is scheduled to begin this fall. It will be adjacent to the putting greens and the Bobby Robinson Practice Facility that was constructed three years ago.

The three-story, 6,600-square-foot building will provide much-needed space for Clemson's golf team and will include meeting rooms, offices, a repair shop, a service kitchen, and locker rooms. The lobby will feature a museum area that depicts the history of Clemson golf.

"The Larry B. Penley, Jr. Golf Facility will be a state-of-the-art venue that will accommodate our student-athlete practice needs as well as enhance our recruiting efforts," said Bill D'Andrea, executive senior associate athletic director for external affairs. "Not only will this building be a great addition to our athletic facilities, it also demonstrates the leadership, financial support, and commitment our former golfers have made to the program."

PGA golfer and Clemson Ring of Honor inductee Charles Warren said that Penley was "like a father" for him and many of his teammates during his time at Clemson. "Larry has meant so much to all of us, to our careers, and on a personal level," stated Warren. "He has been the face of the Clemson golf program for 28 years, and he has meant a lot to a lot of people. This is one small way to ensure that his legacy at Clemson will go on forever."

"Coach Penley means the world to me," said Glover, the 2009 U.S. Open Champion. "Looking back on it, there is no other coach that I would have rather played for. First of all, 'Coach' is a great person. He brings out the best in everyone. He knows how to get the most out of each player, and that's what makes him a great coach."

"Coach Penley is Clemson Golf. There is no other name that deserves to be on that facility."

Penley is in his 28th season as Clemson's head golf coach. Last year, he was inducted into the South Carolina Golf Hall of Fame. He was also inducted into the Collegiate Golf Hall of Fame in 2003 at the age of 44. Penley is the first and still-only Clemson coach to be inducted into his sports hall of fame before retirement.

In 2003, Penley guided Clemson to the National Championship, an NCAA Regional title, and the ACC Championship. It is still the only team in Division I golf history to win all three tournaments in the same year. He has led Clemson to 21 top-20 seasons, more than any other coach in any sport in school history.

All 27 of Penley's previous Tiger teams have been selected to an NCAA Regional and 24 have advanced to the national tournament, including last year's team that recorded a #16 national finish. In the last 13 years, Clemson has had nine top-10 national finishes. No school has had more.

In 2003, Penley was named the Dave Williams National Coach-of-the-Year and the Golfweek National Coach-of-the-Year. He has been named ACC Coach-of-the-Year six times as well.

"The initiative to name the building after Coach Penley demonstrates his long-term success with our golf program, which is the most consistent program we have year in and year out," added D'Andrea. "This is a testimony to his coaching, leadership, and success."

To make a donation to the project, contact Joe White at (864) 656-3945 or via email at jwhite@clemson.edu.

Charles Warren (left) and Lucas Glover (right) practice at the Robinson Practice Facility. The new Larry B. Penley, Jr. Golf Facility will be constructed adjacent to the practice facility.

Lucas Glover and other former Tiger golfers announced that Clemson's new golf building would be named in Head Coach Larry Penley's honor at the annual Tiger Golf Gathering last December, 2009.

TOMMY DRAKE

For Tiger senior forward Tommy Drake, the anticipation of a new era in Clemson men's soccer is very exciting.

Drake is a management major from Chapel Hill, NC. Surrounded by ACC foes Duke, North Carolina, and N.C. State while growing up, Drake is glad he made the decision to come to Tigertown.

"The atmosphere is what first caught my attention," recalled Drake. "I came down on my recruiting visit and that is what really stood out. I took a couple of visits and I fell in love with the place. On top of that, it's a great academic school as well. The facilities are top-notch and there's nothing like playing on Historic Riggs Field."

The Tigers are under the guidance of new Head Soccer Coach Mike Noonan. Noonan took over the men's soccer program in January and the Tigers are on the fast track to return to the glory years of the storied program.

Noonan will be relying heavily on Drake during the transition season. "Tommy has the talent to play anywhere in the country," said Noonan. "His leadership is very valuable to us and that is the reason he is one of our captains. He will be a catalyst for our success this season."

Drake feels just as strong about Noonan as he enters his senior season. "I'm looking forward to this season and playing for Coach Noonan," stated Drake. "The team has really come together. This is the tightest we have been as a team since I have been here. He has the ability to motivate players and we can all see that he knows the game and how to teach it."

Drake began playing the sport of soccer at a very young age and has built a complete resumé during his youth as he prepared to play for Clemson in the rugged ACC.

"I started playing recreational soccer when I was five or six and I got to the point where I was pretty good," said Drake. "My mom encouraged me to try out for some different leagues and it took off from there. I'm glad she encouraged me to play soccer when I was so young because it has been a great experience."

"As I got older, I played for Triangle Football Club. We traveled across the United States and it was a good experience for me. Two youth coaches, Marlow Campbell and Dewan Bader, probably had the most influence on me during my youth soccer career. I also got good experience at Chapel Hill Senior High School."

Drake was a 2006 NSCAA High School All-American and a member of the North Carolina Olympic Development Program (ODP) team. With those credentials, many schools came calling, including Clemson.

As a Tiger, Drake has some great memories and has had an equally-rewarding career, but there is still much to accomplish and he is confident more memories will be made this season.

During his Clemson career, he has been a starter in each of his first three years. As a freshman in 2007, Drake was the team's second-leading scorer when he played in 19 matches and made 13 starts. He scored five goals and had three assists for 13 points. He also had three game-winning goals as a freshman, all against top-20 foes. He scored the winner against #4 Virginia, then just five days later, he had the winner over #14 Furman. Later in the season, he scored the game-winner against #6 Boston College in a 1-0 Tiger victory.

Drake is the only freshman on record to score the game-winning goal over three top-20 teams in the same year. For his fine play that freshman season, he was named to the All-ACC Freshman squad.

During his sophomore year, he played in all 18 matches, including 14 as a starter. He finished the year with one goal and had two assists for four points. He had one assist in Clemson's 5-2 win over #4-ranked and eventual National Champion Maryland that season.

Last year, Drake was again a starter and finished with three goals and three assists for nine points.

As far as great memories, Drake said the upset win over eventual National Champion Virginia in 2009 is at the top. "Upsetting Virginia in Charlottesville last season has to be one of the most memorable games I've played during my career," admitted Drake. "It was a big win for Clemson. I also remember our wins over some other ranked teams as well. I'm looking to make more great memories this season."

Drake has been named to the ACC Academic Honor Roll and received Academic All-ACC honors during his career and will graduate from Clemson in three-and-a-half years, quite an accomplishment for someone who must deal with the hectic schedule of a varsity student-athlete.

"As far as my future plans, I want to play soccer as long as I can," added Drake. "I'll graduate in December, and once I'm done playing soccer, I will have my Clemson degree, so I believe I'm prepared for the future."

Advancing justice, professionalism and understanding of the law

As a freshman, safety Terry Kinard had two interceptions in the fourth quarter of Clemson's 16-10 win at Notre Dame in 1979.

TERRY KINARD

Clemson vs. Notre Dame, 1979

Terry Kinard is one of three unanimous first-team All-Americans in Clemson football history. He accomplished that feat in 1982 when he was named national defensive player-of-the-year by CBS Sports. It is still the only time a Tiger football player has won a national position or player-of-the-year award. He received the honor at the Cotton Bowl in a nationally-televised presentation by famed announcer Lindsey Nelson.

Kinard was an AP First-Team All-American in 1981 and 1982, the only two-time AP First-Team All-American in school history. He was a starter on Clemson's National Championship team of 1981 when he had a team-high six interceptions.

In 2001, he was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame, Clemson's first selection since 1959, when Banks McFadden was inducted.

While Kinard had countless memorable games over his four years as a starter between 1979 and 1982, his finest might have come at Notre Dame as a freshman in November of 1979. Maybe it was fitting because he would have his induction ceremony into the College Football Hall of Fame in South Bend, IN, just two miles from Notre Dame Stadium, 22 years later.

I was in my second year as an assistant sports information director at Clemson under Bob Bradley in 1979, but just two years removed from working as a graduate assistant in the sports information office at Notre Dame. So, that game is memorable to me because I knew players on both teams.

I had been the media contact for Notre Dame's starting quarterback Rusty Lisch two years earlier. In fact, Lisch lived on the same floor in the same dorm (Morrissey Hall) and we split many a late-night pizza. In 1979, I was the person who set up interviews for Clemson players, including Kinard.

Notre Dame entered the game with a 6-3 record but was unranked after having lost the previous week at Tennessee by a 40-18 margin. Still, the Fighting Irish under Dan Devine were just two years removed from winning the national title, a season that included a narrow 21-17 win at Clemson.

Clemson entered the contest with a 7-2 record and a #14 national ranking by AP. It was Clemson who was the ranked team and Notre Dame the unranked one. Still, Notre Dame was the betting favorite according to the odds-makers. The Irish were at home on Senior Day and Notre Dame had lost just two games on Senior Day in the previous 40 seasons.

Notre Dame had an outstanding passing game, led by Lisch, who was in his only year as Notre Dame's starting quarterback. He had served as a backup to Joe Montana off-and-on the previous three years. Conversely, Tiger signal-caller Billy Lott had served in the same capacity behind Steve Fuller for three years.

Lisch's list of receivers included Pete Holohan, who went on to play many years in the NFL with the New England Patriots, tight end Dean Masztek, and freshman wide receiver Tony Hunter, the #1 receiver in the nation coming out of high school.

The Irish entered the game throwing for over 200 yards a game, a high number in the 1970s, so it would be a challenge for Kinard and the Tiger secondary. Earlier in the year, Notre Dame had beaten South Carolina behind a 250-yard passing effort by Lisch.

Lisch started well by passing for 140 yards in the first half, and combined with the running of All-American Vegas Ferguson, Notre Dame took a 10-0 lead. The advantage grew to 16-0 just before halftime, but a holding penalty on Notre Dame tackle Tim Foley wiped out the score. Notre Dame missed a field goal and it remained 10-0 at halftime.

Clemson's ground game, behind the strong option decisions by Lott, brought Clemson from behind. Lott's 26-yard run in the fourth quarter put the Tigers in the lead 13-10 and an Obed Ariri field goal made it 16-10 with 8:30 left.

Just a touchdown and extra point away from taking the lead, Lisch rallied his troops. He drove the Irish from their own 20 to the Clemson 25. On third-and-nine, he threw a pass toward Hunter, but it was deflected and Kinard grabbed the ball at the three. He returned it to the 25.

Clemson had to punt the ball back and the Irish took over, this time at their own 16 with 2:34 left. Devine called a trick play. Holohan had been a high school quarterback and threw a long pass downfield on a reverse. However, Kinard was aware of the play and intercepted the pass. He ran the ball back 40 yards to the Notre Dame 19.

The interceptions on consecutive fourth quarter possessions were the key plays late in the game. The Tigers left South Bend with a 16-10 victory, a huge win in Danny Ford's first full year as head coach.

"You don't see many freshmen dominate the fourth quarter of a game at Notre Dame Stadium, but Terry Kinard did that day," said Ford.

After the game, Kinard was quoted as saying, "We knew they had that fake reverse play and we weren't fooled by it. I caught it in the clear. We knew we were a better defense than what we had showed in the first half."

Kinard made a name for himself this day with those two interceptions and he also totaled seven tackles. The game was not on live television, but Notre Dame had its national replay network in those days and the game was shown on Sunday morning all over the country.

It was the first of many landmark games in Kinard's Tiger career.

John Antonio created the Tiger Paw in 1970. It is still Clemson's official athletic logo 40 years later.

HISTORY OF THE TIGER PAW

Clemson people largely have a hard time blending in with the crowd in public settings. It could be because of the shade of orange associated with the university, or because of the unique design of the Clemson ring that makes it so discernible, especially for fellow graduates.

But arguably the most easily-recognizable symbol of Clemson is the Tiger Paw logo, one of the most recognizable symbols in collegiate athletics. Over many years, the Paw has become synonymous with Clemson Tiger athletics and has stood for excellence and pride among students, faculty, alumni, and fans around the globe.

Many people may assume that the Paw is as old as the hills on which the university rests, but that is simply not the case. In fact, the idea is relatively new, as the Clemson Tiger Paw turned 40 years old in July. Over the past four decades, the Paw has become woven into the fabric of Clemson culture and is arguably the most direct link between the university and the outside world.

The Paw began as an idea to set Clemson athletics apart from the crowd, but it now serves a much greater function, as it has become a quasi-ambassador for the university's overall mission to people around the world. The Paw embodies the Clemson spirit and symbolizes the values that hold the university together.

During the 1950s, wholesale changes began to take place around Clemson. The university, among other things, began to admit women and minorities, dissolved the Corps of Cadets, and re-organized the administration - all in an effort to alter the image of the school at the behest of an independent company that was brought in to complete an audit of the entire school.

It was toward the tail end of this rebranding process, in 1969, that rumblings began about changing the logo from the traditional tiger to something more original. A committee was formed to investigate a new logo and to direct the development of such a change. Members included Athletic Director Frank Howard, Assistant Athletic Director Bill McLellan, and Head Football Coach Hootie Ingram, who some suggest was the driving force behind the shift to the Paw.

The committee enlisted the services of the Henderson Advertising Agency in Greenville, SC to come up with the design and complete the transition to a new logo. The owner of the company, James M. Henderson, was a 1944 Clemson graduate who took the job despite the understanding that compensation would be minimal. He and his vice president, Fred Walker, took the lead in making sure the situation was handled with the utmost care and urgency.

After discussing several options, it was decided that the Tiger Paw would be considered for the new logo. The agency turned the project over to creative designer and artist John Antonio in June of 1970 to begin the drafting process, which took several days.

He contacted the Smithsonian Institute for a photo of a tiger's paw and the National History Museum in Chicago, IL for a cast of a tiger paw. He used both items in forming his final version of the Clemson Tiger Paw.

When he was finished, Antonio presented the completed project to a group of athletic department personnel, who were largely receptive to the Tiger Paw design. Apparently, the key to the presentation of the project was Antonio showing the Tiger Paw on a football helmet. Howard thought it looked sharp and he was on board with the overall idea. Then the Paw was successfully pitched to Dr. R.C. Edwards, who was president of Clemson at the time, and it was also presented to the Board of Trustees.

Some of the intricacies of the Paw that contribute to its aura were implemented by design at the behest of Antonio. The 30-degree angle at which the official Paw sits is there to designate a 1:00 kickoff time for football games, which was a normal occurrence in those days. The inden-tion at the bottom is due to a scar that the tiger who had been chosen as the subject for the logo had received before the cast was made.

Once the decision was made by Howard to adopt the Tiger Paw design as Clemson's official athletic logo, several individuals were deployed to various locations in the southeast to present the idea to students, alumni, and the general public. Initially, the reviews were mixed.

"When they came back with the idea and said we were going to use it, some people were apprehensive about it," said former IPTAY Executive Director George Bennett. "But some people were overjoyed with it, and eventually, people got really excited."

Due to the continued efforts of media members and athletic brass promoting it, Clemson's fanbase became more accepting of the new insignia of the university's athletic programs within a short period of time. The Paw began to pop up on various merchandise and sales steadily rose as fans accepted it as part of the Clemson culture.

It was not long before the increasing popularity of the Paw became a problem for the athletic administration. After the football team won the 1981 national title, individuals and corporations showed interest in copying the Paw for personal use. For a few years, Clemson granted many of these requests before realizing the need to license the Tiger Paw and make it the property of the university alone.

"In the very beginning, we didn't want it to be licensed because we wanted people to use it," admitted Bennett. "I don't think anyone even thought about copyrighting and licensing it. But what we didn't realize was going to happen was that every school in the country that had some kind of animal would start using it. Someone said that the best form of success is how many times you get copied. The Paw is pretty successful."

Licensing was first suggested by Henderson when his company designed the Paw, but the university was hesitant to go that route because of a lack of precedent elsewhere in the country, the fact that the university had never copyrighted anything before, and the tedious and costly process that it would entail.

Eventually, the allure of being able to control the usage and the profits associated with the Tiger Paw logo appealed to enough people within the athletic department that steps were taken toward giving Clemson exclusive rights. In 1982, McLellan and Sports Promotions Director Allison Dalton explored options for copyrighting the logo.

They identified Collegiate Concepts, a newly-formed company specifically designed to administer licenses and copyrights for institutions of higher learning. Discussions continued for several months with Bill Battle from Collegiate Concepts, a former head coach at Tennessee, McLellan, and Dalton. Then in June of 1984, the Clemson Tiger Paw was officially trademarked by the federal government, along with several other monikers and secondary logos. Clemson became the third institution to use Collegiate Concepts, now known as the Collegiate Licensing Company (CLC), behind Alabama and Mississippi.

"In those early years of licensing, the focus was on educating companies as to why they had to be licensed and getting those companies to use the Tiger Paw on approved merchandise," said Derek Eiler, senior vice president and managing director of CLC. "The business has evolved dramatically over the past two decades. Now, it is our job to partner with the university to protect, manage, and develop the brand to ensure the value of the Tiger Paw is maximized for Clemson."

As the Clemson Tiger Paw approaches four decades of existence, it appears that its value has continued to grow. Focused advertising strategies, such as the Solid Orange campaign, have increased exposure to the Paw around the country, and the brand remains as strong as ever.

Knowing the history of the Clemson Tiger Paw, it becomes nearly impossible to see it as simply a painting on the 50-yard line, a lapel pin, or a way to decorate Clemson's apparel. Because of the efforts of so many throughout the years, the Paw has become a way to display the spirit of Clemson University - a place that is as unique as the symbol that best signifies it.

Henry Abadi
Soccer • 1972,73

Between 1972-79, the men's soccer program won eight ACC championships in a row under legendary Head Coach Dr. I.M. Ibrahim. Former soccer standout Henry Abadi was a major reason the 1972 and 1973 squads won the first two of those titles.

After transferring from a junior college in Florida, Abadi became one of the team's leading goal-scorers and set many school goal-scoring records in his two years in Tiger-town. He was named First-Team All-ACC in 1972 when he scored 27 goals, one of the highest totals in the nation.

Abadi's senior season was even more impressive. In the team's second consecutive conference championship run, Abadi set the Clemson record for goals in a season and goals by a senior with 32 goals in only 16 matches (that record was later tied by Jimmy Glenn in 1993).

Twenty of his 32 goals were scored in the first five matches of the 1973 season, placing him first in fewest matches to score 20 goals, a record that still stands today. His 32 goals that season also led the nation.

Abadi is second, third, and tied for 10th in Clemson history in goals scored by a Tiger with six against Western Carolina, five against N.C. State, and four against Furman. Abadi is also tied for second in points scored by a Tiger (12 against N.C. State).

Abadi is one of 26 players in the soccer program's history to record at least two goals and two assists in the same match, a feat he accomplished twice in 1973. In terms of season records, Abadi is second in goals per match (2.00), second in points (71 in 16 matches), and second in points per match (4.44), all set throughout the course of 1973. He holds the record for most "hat tricks" in a season with five in 1973, which gave him seven in his career.

After such a dominating senior performance, Abadi was named First-Team All-ACC for the second straight year. He also earned first-team All-America honors, making him Clemson's first first-team All-American on the pitch.

He is still in the school's top 10 in many categories and still owns the record for points per match (3.78) and goals per match (1.67). By receiving many prestigious awards and setting several records in his short career, Abadi made quite a name for himself among Clemson soccer legends.

Shawn Crawford
Track & Field • 1997-00

Most people remember the 2004 Olympics in Athens, Greece when Carly Patterson became the second American to win the all-around gold in women's gymnastics, the United States swept the 4x400m relays, and Michael Phelps became the first athlete to win eight medals in one Olympics.

However, the event that sticks out the most in Tiger fans' minds is the men's 200m in track. The United States swept that race, with Justin Gatlin taking bronze, Bernard Williams taking silver, and, most importantly, former Clemson track standout Shawn Crawford taking home the gold.

Before becoming an Olympic hero, he was a decorated athlete at Clemson from 1997-00. Coached by the late Clemson legend and fellow 2010 Hall of Fame inductee Bob Pollock, Crawford helped lead the Tigers to three straight ACC indoor titles and two ACC outdoor titles.

In 2000, Crawford led the Tigers to a sweep of the ACC indoor and outdoor championships and was named the ACC Indoor Most Valuable Performer for the second year in a row. He was also named the ACC Outdoor Most Valuable Performer for the second time in his career.

Crawford was a 12-time All-ACC selection, third-most in Clemson history. He was also a nine-time ACC champion in individual events, a school record for individual titles.

The Lancaster, SC native won his first NCAA Championship in 1998 in the 200m indoors. He then went on to sweep the indoor and outdoor 200m races in 2000, becoming only the second Clemson athlete to win three NCAA track titles. He was a Tiger-best 11-time All-American (four indoor, seven outdoor).

In 2002, he was one of 13 Clemson men's track & field athletes named to the ACC 50-Year Anniversary team.

Crawford is in the top five in Tiger history in five different indoor and outdoor events, including school records in the 200m indoor and outdoor, both set in 2000. Crawford also holds two Clemson facility records. He set the Rock Norman Outdoor Track record for the 200m in 2000 and his relay team set the record for the 4x100m in 1998.

In the 2008 Olympics, he finished fourth in the 200m but was later given the silver medal after a disqualification of runners who finished ahead of him. Crawford showed the true Clemson spirit by giving his silver medal to the original winner, Churandy Martina of the Netherlands Antilles.

Crawford won the 200m at the 2009 U.S. Championships. He is still competing in meets and remains one of the most decorated track & field athletes in Tiger history.

Cindy Duarte
Track & Field • 1980-84

Cindy Duarte is a former Clemson cross country and track & field standout whose name will remain etched in Clemson history forever. As a freshman during the 1980 season, Duarte became Clemson's first female All-ACC performer in cross country when she finished ninth in the conference.

The following spring (1981), Duarte became the first female All-American in Clemson track & field history. She was Clemson's first and only female to participate in a national outdoor and indoor track meet that year when she competed at the AIAW Championships. She was named an All-American in both the 3000m indoor race and the 3000m outdoor race.

Duarte was just as strong during her sophomore cross country campaign. In the 1981 cross country season, she joined fellow Hall of Fame member Kerry Robinson as the first female All-Americans in Clemson cross country history. That team finished the season sixth in the country. Duarte was named All-ACC for the second consecutive season. She was also awarded the title of all-district that season and again received that honor in her junior campaign (1982).

During her career, Duarte became Clemson's first female runner to earn All-America honors in indoor track, outdoor track, and cross country. She also became the first two-time, all-district cross country performer in school history.

In 2002, she was one of seven Clemson runners to be named to the ACC 50-Year Anniversary cross country team. Duarte contributed to the early success of the Clemson track & field program and set the bar for female runners in the future.

Pender Murphy
Tennis • 1978-81

Clemson's men's tennis program has become one of the top programs in the country over its history. The program boasts 24 NCAA Tournament appearances, seven NCAA Elite Eights, 12 NCAA Final 16s, 11 ACC Championships, 18 top-25 seasons, and 12

ACC regular-season titles.

One of the keys to the establishment of the championship-caliber program was the play of Pender Murphy. The native of Charlotte, NC was a Tiger letterman from 1978-81. During his career, Murphy was part of a team that reached the Final 16 in the NCAA Tournament in 1979, won the ACC Championship in 1980 and 1981, and reached the Final Eight of the NCAA Tournament in 1980 and 1981.

Those were the first Elite Eight teams in Clemson history and the first time the program won consecutive ACC titles. Murphy played an important role in the success of the tennis program during that span.

During Clemson's trips to the NCAA Final Eight in 1980 and 1981, Murphy was an All-American in both singles and doubles. He helped the 1980 team to a #8 final ranking and the 1981 team to a #7 final ranking.

The 1980 season was also a productive one for Murphy during the conference matches. He was the 1980 ACC Singles Champion as the #3 singles player and won a Clemson-record 29 consecutive singles matches, a record that still stands 30 years later. He actually won 26 of the 29 in straight sets. Murphy is in the top 10 in Clemson history in singles and doubles wins. He is ninth on the Tiger career list for singles wins (120) and sixth on the career list for doubles wins (119).

In 2002, Murphy was named to the ACC 50-Year Anniversary men's tennis team. Clemson had 15 of the 50 athletes named to the ACC 50-Year Anniversary team, more than any other school. The 15 selections were also a high for Clemson in any sport. Throughout his career under legendary Head Coach Chuck Kriesie, Murphy became a part of a Clemson tennis program that continues to establish national consistency today.

Harold Olson
Football • 1957-59

During the 1950s, Clemson was beginning to establish its dominance inside the newly-formed Atlantic Coast Conference. One of the keys to the Tigers' success in their consecutive championship runs was offensive lineman Harold Olson.

Olson was a three-time letterman and two-year starter for the Tigers between 1957-59. Under legendary Head Coach Frank Howard, Olson helped lead the 1958 and 1959 Tigers to back-to-back ACC Championships. He was a First-Team All-ACC selection at the conclusion of the 1959 season. Associated Press lauded him with honorable mention All-America honors in 1959. Olson was also named to the Clemson Centennial team for one-platoon players in 1996.

Following his standout career as a Tiger, Olson went on to be selected #13 overall in the 1960 NFL draft, the 10th-highest draft selection in Clemson history. He did not receive the notoriety then that he would today for being the #13 selection of the draft. In those days, there were only 12 teams in the NFL, so he was officially a second-round pick.

Olson played for two different teams during his five-year professional career, the Buffalo Bills and the Denver Broncos. During his three-year stint with the Bills, Olson was a first-team All-Pro selection. In all, he played 70 games during his professional career.

Today, Olson remains a key piece of Tiger football history. Clemson had the 15th-highest winning percentage in college football during the 1950s, and Olson had a lot to do with that success.

The 1959 team recorded a still-school and ACC-record four consecutive shutouts in victories over N.C. State, South Carolina, Rice, and Duke. Olson, along with fellow Tiger lineman Lou Cordileone, set the bar for Clemson offensive linemen. Both were selected among the top-15 draft picks in 1960 and set an example of how important the offensive lineman position really is.

Bob Pollock

Men's Track & Field Coach • 1988-08
Former Tiger Track & Field Coach Bob Pollock had one of the most illustrious coaching careers in Clemson history in any sport. In a 20-year career at the helm of the track program, Pollock became one of the most decorated coaches in the sport.

Prior to coming to Clemson, Pollock boasted an impressive resumé as the coach at Appalachian State. Over a 14-year span, he led the Mountaineers to one conference title in cross country, four indoor track conference titles, and five outdoor track conference championships. He was a 12-time Southern Conference Coach-of-the-Year and was named NCAA Region III Coach-of-the-Year in 1986.

Pollock's career at Clemson began in 1988. In his first year as head coach, Pollock guided the Tigers to their first ACC indoor/outdoor conference championship sweep.

Between 1988-93, Pollock's indoor teams won every conference title and his outdoor teams won championships four out of five years. From 1996-02, the Tiger indoor teams began another streak of conference titles and the outdoor teams won four championships during that span.

During his 20-year tenure as the head coach at Clemson that ended in 2008, he led the Tigers to 21 ACC Championships (11 indoor, nine outdoor, one cross country). Pollock was named indoor national coach-of-the-year in 1992 after leading Clemson to a second-place team finish, the best in program history. He was the ACC Coach-of-the-Year 19 times, including his final season as head coach, and was the region coach-of-the-year 16 times. He was named ACC Coach-of-the-Year more than any coach in Clemson history as well.

During his time at Clemson, Pollock coached 13 national champions, including 10 indoors. Travis Padgett was Pollock's final NCAA champion, winning the 60m in 2007. Pollock also coached Olympic gold medalist and fellow 2010 Hall of Fame inductee Shawn Crawford to multiple national championships during his Clemson career.

Pollock mentored nearly 200 All-Americans during his career at Clemson. The Tigers had at least one All-American in each of his 20 seasons. He also had 14 former student-athletes go on to compete in the Olympics, with two bringing home gold medals.

Pollock left us too soon, as he was diagnosed with lung cancer in August of 2009. He passed away on February 20, 2010 in Lexington, KY.

Paulette Russell

Swimming & Diving • 1990-93
In the late 1980s and early 1990s, the Clemson women's swimming & diving program rose to prominence in the ACC. Over a 10-year period (1984-94), the Lady Tigers had at least one ACC Championship performance from the program.

Paulette Russell was a four-time ACC Champion from 1990-93 and was a big key to the success during that era. In 1991, Russell won the 500 freestyle ACC title, posting a time of 4:48.70. In 1992, she was a two-event ACC Champion. Russell won the 200 breaststroke with a time of 2:18.02. She then went on to win her second consecutive 500 freestyle championship. Her time of 4:46.26 is still in the school's all-time top 10.

In 1993, Russell won her third straight 500 freestyle ACC title, posting a time of 4:51.49.

Thanks to her dominance in the 500 freestyle, Russell was named All-ACC four consecutive years. She also was a five-time All-American in the 500 freestyle, 400 individual medley, and 800 freestyle relay.

Russell posted times during her Clemson career that still are among Clemson's all-time top 10. Along with her 500 freestyle time, which is fifth all-time, her time in the 200 breaststroke is eighth and her time in the 400 individual medley is third.

In 2002, Russell joined 10 other former Clemson swimmers, including fellow Hall of Famer members Rick Aronberg, Jill Bakehorn, Coy Cobb, Ruth Grodsky, Pam Hayden, and Mitzi Kremer, in being selected to the prestigious ACC 50-Year Anniversary squad. Russell also participated in the 1992 U.S. Olympic Trials, as she competed in the 400 freestyle race.

Russell was one of the keys to the Lady Tigers' success in the early 1990s and made a significant impact on the Clemson swimming & diving program.

D.J. Trahan

Golf • 1999-03

Clemson's golf program has always been one of national prominence. Many of the PGA Tour's top players have come through Clemson University, including current PGA Tour player D.J. Trahan. Trahan was a Tiger golfer from 1999-03 and helped the Tigers to the ultimate team prize in his senior season.

After enrolling at Clemson in 1999, the Inman, SC native made an immediate impact. In the spring of 2000, Trahan was named First-Team All-ACC, only the second freshman golfer in school history to do so. He was also a first-team freshman All-American and an honorable mention All-American thanks to his 15th-place finish at the national tourney. He was named ACC Rookie-of-the-Year, making him Clemson's first golfer to win the award.

His sophomore season was just as impressive. Trahan was Clemson's top player in the NCAA Tournament for the second straight year, finishing seventh overall. He was a First-Team All-ACC and honorable mention All-America selection for the second consecutive season.

Trahan went on to be named First-Team All-ACC for the third straight year as a junior. He was also a first-team All-American that year, his third straight All-America honor, after spending the fall as the top-rated golfer in the nation. He finished the year #2 in the computer rankings.

At the conclusion of that season, he was the recipient of the Jack Nicklaus and Ben Hogan Awards, the first Clemson golfer to win both of those national player-of-the-year awards. He was also a second-team academic All-American that year and joined just a handful of Clemson athletes to be an All-American in the classroom and on the field of competition in the same year.

In 2003, Trahan led the Tigers to the NCAA Championship, the first golf title in Clemson history. That year, he was a first-team All-American for the second year and was named All-ACC for the fourth time. He was also named to the ACC 50-Year Anniversary golf team, the only ACC golfer at the time named to that team.

After finishing at Clemson, Trahan began playing in PGA Tour events. He already has two PGA victories to his credit and has recorded 20 top-10 finishes in his young career. He is unable to be with us today as he competes in the PGA Tour event in Norton, MA this weekend.

LIFE AFTER C.J. SPILLER

"So what will Clemson be without C.J. Spiller?"

That was the most often asked question by the media, national and local, in 2010 with Kyle Parker's playing status a close second until Parker made his decision to return to Clemson in the wee hours of the morning on July 21.

Spiller would have to rank among Clemson's best football players in history and some might say he was the best. He was certainly the most electric, with 21 touchdowns of 50 yards or more, 14 more than any other previous player in school history. Eleven of those were 80 yards or more. He set the NCAA record for career kickoff returns for touchdowns with seven and tied the mark for total kick returns for scores with eight. When he had the ball, Tiger opponents just held their breath.

Off the field, he set a terrific example as a team leader in addition to his 32 school records. Clemson finally got over the hump and won the Atlantic Division title to get to the ACC Championship Game for the first time, and the program finished in the top 25 of the AP poll, a significant accomplishment for a team that was not ranked in the preseason. The Tigers beat both Miami (FL) and Florida State in the same season for the first time and scored 40 points against both teams in the process.

Dabo Swinney has been asked what Clemson will do without Spiller. He had a simple answer.

"I am just in my second full year as a head coach, but I may never coach anyone like C.J. again," admitted Swin-ney. "But we have talented players on this team who can take his place. It might take three or four guys to do what he did last year as a rusher, receiver, and kick returner."

You have to wonder if Frank Howard was asked the same thing in the preseason of 1940. That year, Howard's first as head coach, the Tigers had to replace Banks McFadden, a first-team All-American who was a triple-threat standout just like Spiller. McFadden might have gone one better than Spiller from an all-around standpoint in that the great from Great Falls, SC was also sixth in the nation in punting with a 42.7-yard average in addition to leading the Tigers in rushing, passing, and pass breakups on defense. McFadden was the #4 overall pick of the NFL draft and Spiller was the #9 selection.

Despite the loss of McFadden, Howard found multiple players to take his place and the Tigers won the Southern Conference Championship, something the Tigers did not do the previous year with McFadden leading the way. In fact, it was Clemson's first conference title in 38 years.

There are other examples of Clemson recording a great season the year after losing a standout player or group of players. The Tigers featured the "Dream Backfield" of Fred Cone, Ray Mathews, Jackie Calvert, and Dick Hendley that led them to two undefeated seasons (1948, 50), the only time that has happened in school history. However, the 1951 season included a solid 7-3 record and a #19 final national ranking along with a Gator Bowl berth.

The year after Jeff Davis graduated after leading Clemson to the 1981 national title, the Tiger defense did not collapse and Clemson finished with a #8 final ranking.

Spiller was Clemson's third unanimous first-team All-American in history, joining Terry Kinard and the late Gaines Adams. Clemson had a 9-1-1 record and #11 final ranking in 1983, the year after Kinard left, and the Tigers won nine games and had a final top-25 ranking in 2007, the year after Adams graduated.

Clemson's winningest senior class in history, the seniors of 1990, had a 40-8 combined record (four consecutive 10-2 seasons). But the program did not collapse after that group graduated, as the 1991 team posted a 9-2-1 record, a top-20 final ranking, and its most-recent ACC title.

Nationally, many programs go on to have great seasons after losing a terrific player. Swinney pointed that out to his team early in preseason camp in August. His first example came from one of his current assistant coaches, Dan Brooks. Brooks was at Tennessee during the Peyton Manning era.

Manning had a great career and led Tennessee to a top-five season in 1997, his senior year, when he finished second in the Heisman Trophy race. The next season, with Manning starting in his first year for the Indianapolis Colts, the Volunteers won their first national title since 1951.

In the 1980s in consecutive years, teams won the national title after losing the Heisman Trophy winner from the previous year. In 1987, Miami (FL) won the national title after Heisman Trophy winner Vinny Testaverde had quarterbacked the Hurricanes as a senior in 1986. In 1987, Tim Brown won the Heisman Trophy at Notre Dame. The next year after Brown graduated, the Fighting Irish won the national title.

Nationally, teams have recorded a top-five national finish 22 times since 1950 even though they have lost the Heisman Trophy winner from the previous season. Teams have recorded 32 top-10 finishes in the same situation during that time period. That includes a streak of nine consecutive top-10 finishes (1970-78) for teams that lost the Heisman Trophy winner from the previous year.

The obvious key to success after losing a great player is to have young players waiting in the wings ready to take over. It can be more than one player, and usually is. That is the reason football is a true team sport.

Swinney is confident Jamie Harper and Andre Ellington can take over for Spiller in the running game and the receiving game. He also knows Marcus Gilchrist and others can be very effective in the return game.

While I will be the first to tell you we might not see any more C.J. Spillers grace Frank Howard Field, Clemson can still have a terrific 2010 season. Howard had faith in his 1940 Tigers after McFadden graduated, and Swinney has faith in his players in the post-Spiller era.
